Harry Scott of Alameda, Whose Foster Mother Died of Grief, Appeals From Prison He Was "Not Guilty"

Through Tribune Youth Now Serving Term for Burglary Seeks to Locate and Assure His Kind Foster Father

Youth that hears the call of adventure and slips off into the world with a careless abandonment of home ties, may find in the story of Harry Scott of Alameda some hint of the leaden side of the vision which calls it forth "to make its way alone."

With a 15-year sentence in prison ahead of him, Harry has sent out an appeal that some one find for him again a trace of the family he forsook. He wished to tell his foster-father, J. Hollingshead, 2224 Clinton avenue, Alameda, that he is "not guilty," and wonders if something cannot be done for him. The letter, addressed to The TRIBUNE, and turned over to Hollingshead, is the first word Scott had written in the five years during which his parents searched for him.

FOSTER MOTHER DIES AFTER DISAPPEARANCE

The disappearance of Harry Scott, 15, from the Hollingshead home in Oakland after he had been a member of the family, an adopted son, for thirteen years, broke the heart of the foster mother. The boy left word and gave no intimation of his intention to run away. It was thought he felt the rules of discipline too strict, and that he was confident he was able to win his own way with no supervision.

Mrs. Hollingshead, who was ill when Harry left, grew steadily worse and Hollingshead never ceased in his efforts to find the lad for whom she constantly agonized. When she died it was said that grief was largely responsible.

Since then, and it was five years ago when the boy ran away, Hollingshead has continued the search. "Never, until the letter to The TRIBUNE, had he found even a clue. He has moved from the old address and the lad was in doubt how to direct the letter.

LEADS WRITES FROM NEW YORK PENITENTIARY

"They always read The TRIBUNE," Scott explained in a missive written from the penitentiary at Carson City. Then he tells of being accused of a crime of which he is innocent and appeals for the comfort and pity of another and failing.

A telegram from Carson, in verification of the letter, reads: "Raymond H. Scott, 20 years old, native of Michigan, in state prison, charged with burglary, first degree."

Hollingshead says that this is "Harry," and that he will write to find out if there is anything he can do.

Snake in Diet Is Cause of Uproar

TOKYO, Feb. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—It is an outrage for anybody to think of E. J. Illiterate as ignorant. Dr. A. E. Winslow, of Boston, told delegates attending the literacy conference of middle west and northern states today.

"The mountaineers can teach graduate students much," he said. "Every illiterate from the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee and the Carolinas was infinitely better skilled to shoot and dodge shots in the world war than United States senators and university presidents.

In the mountains east of Kentucky and Tennessee and on the coast of the Carolinas there have been as good many brains as in Wall street, Harvard Yale and Princeton. Philadelphia and Chicago, New York and San Francisco have been as illiterate to the brain messages of mountaineers as they are to the Sunday school syndicate lessons of William Jennings Bryan.

THREE MINUTE TALES

A Dinner Partner by AD SCHUSTER

MISS MINN was poetic and poor. She was also one of the best-loved women in Meadtown. Every morning she tidied up the little home that was hers and every afternoon she walked primly through Main street to the library, where she read Shelley and Keats. It was said that she sent many verses away in the mail, and it was rumored, for she never told, that some of them had been accepted.

In all of Meadtown there was no home so neat as that of the slender spinster and none so loved by the children. Old-fashioned blossoms bordered her walk and roses of the Miller family made her living room a place for young wonder and speculation.

When the cost of living went up all of Miss Minn's friends realized the straits to which she was put to make her income meet her need. There were many who would have helped if they could but find the way to break through her simple dignity and reserve.

"One couldn't go over to Elsie Minn's house with a basket of food any more than she could ask her to help with the wash or the sewing," was the way Mrs. Ed. Snow explained it. "I have been feeling that she would just look at me and that I would fade away in an awful silence."

As the weeks went by there were many who gave generously of their thoughts to the woman who, despite her slender means, did not stint in the number of cookies she gave to the children or in the monthly offering to the church. It was the best library in Meadtown, who thought of the way.

"MEN," he said one night at an informal meeting of the men's club in the postoffice building, "I have been thinking of Miss Minn. I have been thinking it over and have a sort of theory I would like to try out. Now you listen to me and don't talk to me in town. I have lighted his pipe and looked impressive while he arranged his words in his mind.

"I know what books she reads," he continued, "and I am the only one in town who has seen her poems. I wouldn't be talking about it if it didn't bear on what I am going to say. The way to do a kindness to that woman is to be romantic. We will have to make a mystery, probably a mystery man."

After talking it over, the men's club hit upon a plan and, after the manner of similar organizations, left the execution to the women.

"Miss Minn," said Mrs. Snow, who had been chosen for the task, "I come on an unusual errand. There is a bashful man in town who is interested in you who wishes to be a steady, able act, you might say. He wishes me to give you this, and she extended a bill, and to invite you to have a real fine dinner at the club."

The agitated Mrs. Snow had not delivered the speech as she had rehearsed it and was quite certain that she would be surprised to the door. It was with surprise that she saw the other ladies light up with surprised interest. Miss Minn smiled eagerly and through tears.

"Oh, but you must tell me the gentleman's name!" she said, her slight body trembling with new and mixed emotions.

Mrs. Snow and the others were on hand, discreetly out of sight, to assist Miss Minn in the execution of the anonymous invitation. They saw her, dressed in her best, walk into the hotel and heard a report later of what took place. The bill was five dollars one, and it was thought that it would aid the recipient in a number of ways.

Ezra Wolcott brought in the report. The spent most of the evening," he said, almost in tears, "on the biggest dinner I bet, she ever saw in her life.

"It is a funny thing, too," he added, after a pause, "she asked for two orders of everything and only ate from the property."

IDENTITY TO KILL HOPE OF 500 "HERS"

Mrs. Alice Maslin of Pioneer Alameda Family Expected to Show Hastings Recluse Admirer of 50 Years Ago

Many Claimants for $200,000 Estate Left by John O'Connor Will Be Disappointed When Career Is Disclosed

Out of its be-ribboned wrappings of lavender and old lace comes the story of admiration and unrequited love which may decide the settlement of an estate of $200,000 and dash the hopes of half a thousand fortune hunters.

Mrs. Alice Way Maslin, member of a pioneer family of Alameda, and wife of the deputy collector of the port of San Francisco, has unlocked the 50-year-old secret of her heart. This secret will be told a jury in the superior court of Hastings, Nebraska, to establish the identity of John O'Connor, wealthy hermit, who died eight years ago intestate, and point out his rightful heirs.

When O'Connor died leaving no clue to his identity heirs began to spring up like mushrooms. Persons of the sort and name claimed the estate. "All claimed definite relationship, but none knew the other."

For three years the court kept the remains of O'Connor so that "relatives" might visit and identify them. Finally there were more than 500 claimants.

FAMILY TREES ARE LIMITED TO FOUR

By a process of elimination the family trees of the deceased were limited to four, and Frank McDonough, attorney of Denver, representing one set of claimants, hopes to prove his contention by the story of Mrs. Maslin.

John O'Connor of Virginia City said that old John O'Connor was really John Connor, school trustee of Waterville, New York, who abandoned in 1869 with school money. He and his brothers claim to be sons of the dead hermit.

Rudolph Olsen, a Cree Indian, says that O'Connor was his father, Olaf Olsen, a Hudson Bay company's trapper, who married the Cree's daughter in 1867 and disappeared later. Olaf Olsen is said to have killed two Northwest Mounted policemen and gone to the Nebraska frontier because of that crime.

John Kirkman of Omaha says that O'Connor was John Macon Kirkman, his father, who deserted his family in Ohio in 1869. Kirkman bases his claim on physical characteristics of his sons and the dead hermit.

DECLARE HE TENDED BAR IN WASHINGTON

The fourth set of claimants, the Allmans, represented by Mrs. P. R. Gallagher of Denver and other heirs in Washington, D. C., say that O'Connor was John O'Connor, who was in Washington, went to St. Louis and lived to Jerseyville, Ill., where he lived a year or two.

Here in Jerseyville, Mrs. Maslin, who is not a claimant for the estate, met John O'Connor, who was a member of the guard, and was discovered. Palmer and Knowles was discovered.

Almost at the same time it was discovered that Rev. Forbes' coat of arms was missing. He was not long later than Mrs. Maslin, wearing the minister's garments, was stopped when he was not far from liberty by a guard, who became suspicious by the tone of his voice when he responded to the guard's greeting. Molson is serving a seven-year sentence for the theft of an automobile.

HOPE MADE OF SLASHED CLOTHING

The three other men had cut their coats and overalls into strips, which they had twisted into a rope and clambered up the side of the blower house near the lute mill, thence descending the 30-foot outside wall with the same cord-rope.

It was the fifth time Claussen has been in prison. He broke successfully from prisons at Marquette, Mich., Monard, Ill., and also from San Quentin in August, 1917. He later was captured in New York and returned to San Quentin. En route to the prison, Claussen jumped from the train on his way and was recaptured by his guard, only after a sensational pursuit and battle.

Prison officials today expressed the belief that the capture of the three men would be brought about within a few hours.

SIX SAW WAY FROM NEW YORK

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Feb. 24.—Sawing their way through five steel barriers in the Woodbury county jail, six prisoners, three of whom had been convicted of felonies, escaped today.

Those who gained their freedom are "Bud" Purcell, convicted of stealing automobiles; Mike Purcell, awaiting trial on a similar charge; William Hildebrand, found guilty Wednesday of the slaying of Bert Lane, to be tried for the same offense; Roy Burke, recently sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary for robbery; and Harry O'Dell, an alleged confidence man.

A drill and a piece of a steel saw blade and a 20-foot length of rope were left behind by the prisoners as evidence of the manner in which the escape was made.

The three cells containing the six men are on the second floor of the county building and all in the east corridor.

Aged Earl Given Decree, Accusing Wife, Young Peer

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Earl of Cathcart was granted a divorce today upon proof of Lady Cathcart's indiscretions with the Earl of Craven. The case, which originated in the defended list, came before the court as an undefended suit.

Lady Cathcart, who is regarded as one of the most beautiful women in England, is about 30 years old, the daughter of the late John Fraser of Capetown, South Africa, and widow of Captain de Grey Warter. She married the Earl of Cathcart in 1919. He is 59 years old. The Earl of Craven is only 24 years of age, and long has been serving in the world war. He is married. His mother was Miss Cornelia Bradley-Martin, daughter of the late Bradley-Martin of New York.

EASTBAY COMBED FOR 3 CONVICTS

San Quentin Fugitives Are Believed to Have Been Given Refuge.

Search for the three San Quentin penitentiary prisoners who escaped from the prison last night, was extended to Alameda county today, but to no apparent avail. Posses from the prison and from the Marin county sheriff's office were unable to find trace of the three men.

Police of San Francisco were asked to search for the men in the San Francisco underworld, believing that perhaps they had returned to San Francisco, which had been their headquarters before being sent to the penitentiary.

Contra Costa authorities joined the chase when it was considered possible they had made their way to the vicinity of Richmond in hopes of reaching a train at that point.

On the same theory, Alameda county officers were requested to keep a lookout for the trio. San Quentin officers were handicapped in their efforts by influenza having reduced the guards available for duty as possemen.

The fugitives are Frank Claussen, received as a prisoner from Alameda county in 1917, on a charge of forgery; William Knowles, convicted burglar, and Richard Palmer, burglar, at one time accused of having robbed the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco of $10,000.

For three months, the prisoners, in disguise, have been the challenges of four guards when the fifth guard became suspicious and learned Molson's true identity.

MEN OUT OF CELLS TO HEAR SERMON

The four men were among a large number of prisoners who had been allowed to leave their cells and assemble in the prison chapel to hear a sermon delivered by the Rev. C. A. Forbes of San Francisco. When the sermon ended and looking up time arrived the absence of the prisoners was noted.

Almost at the same time it was discovered that Rev. Forbes' coat of arms was missing. He was not long later than Mrs. Maslin, wearing the minister's garments, was stopped when he was not far from liberty by a guard, who became suspicious by the tone of his voice when he responded to the guard's greeting. Molson is serving a seven-year sentence for the theft of an automobile.

SALES TAX BONUS PLAN IS REJECTED

By Vote of Five to Three the Republican Sub-Committee Decides Against One Proposal to Aid Ex-Soldiers

Senate Foreign Relations Body Will Vote Tomorrow On Four-Power Pact and the Reservations Proposed

By CARL D. GROAT, United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—By a vote of five to three, the Republican sub-committee of the House ways and means committee today voted against a sales tax as a means of raising the soldier bonus.

The sub-committee members decided to report the outcome of their voting to the full Republican membership later today and it was held likely the full group would concur.

Pro-sales tax men said the matter probably will have to go back to President Harding.

Representative Houghton, New York, an expert on insurance, suggested to the committee a scheme whereby service men would obtain unemployment, sickness and old age insurance—but without cash. This met considerable favor within the committee, but it was stated that no definite alternative or compromise is ready for the full Republican membership.

Forney, in keeping with his plan, the new farm bloc leaders, appeared against the sales tax. The only pro-tax men were Longworth, Watson and Bacharach.

Representative Fearr, farm bloc mail, was understood to have told colleagues that his group was so opposed to the sales tax that it could not pass.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—A modified blanket reservation to the four-power Pacific treaty said to be satisfactory both to President Harding and to a majority of the members of the Senate foreign relations committee today was debated by the committee today and an agreement reached to vote on the treaty itself and all proposed reservations at tomorrow's session.

The reservation was laid before the committee by Senator Brandegee, Republican, Connecticut, at a conference with President Harding. The Connecticut senator was said to have reported it as embodying the President's policy in the understanding of committee members was that it would be acceptable to the White House.

The text of the reservation follows: "The United States understands that under the statement in the preamble or under the terms of this treaty there is no commitment to armed forces, no alliance, no obligation in any form."

JOHNSON AND ROBERTS EXPECTED TO OPPOSE

Although apparently acceptable to most of the Republican and Democratic reservationists on the committee, the reservation, according to today's discussion, will not receive unanimous approval.

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, was said to have shown opposition during the meeting, and it was generally expected that Senator Brandegee, Idaho, who was absent, would take a similar position.

The compromise reservation is more direct and shorter than the original Brandegee blanket proposal to which a majority of the committee members previously had indicated their support. Under the original reservation the United States would have set forth in detail that it was not a revolutionary act, but a legal obligation under the treaty or any adjustments resulting from it, "without the consent of Congress."

Today the Senate met an hour earlier than usual in order to expedite the treaty debate, the treaty being given right of way and Republican leaders hoping for early action.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Congressional axe now hanging over army and navy appropriations is threatening the existence of more than half of the navy yards of the country, it was said today by naval officials.

Should the axe fall on naval appropriations as heavy as some Congressional leaders are threatening, the navy department, it is said, will be virtually forced to close all but a few essential establishments.

The slash in personnel at the yards will range upwards to 75 per cent of the complement of each yard affected, it is understood. This will mean even more thousands of workmen suspended from employment than the recent order stopping construction of many already well-defined plan of cutting the navy appropriations of $400,000,000 in half materialize, only four of the existing nine yards will be retained in commission. The others will be gradually forced to suspend activities.

The yards likely to be retained are the so-called "strategic" establishments located at Brooklyn and Norfolk, on the Atlantic, and Mare Island, on the Pacific, and the Pacific coast.

TRUTH OF "CONFESSION" HUNGES ON BANKBOOK.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 24. (By International News Service).—Search for a bankbook was begun here today to determine the truth or falsity of the story of Harry N. Fields of the slaying of William Desmond Taylor, film director, in his Los Angeles home February 1.

Fields, a prisoner in the county jail, is said to have declared to detectives who arrested him on February 6 that he had deposited money in a Chicago bank on February 2.

The bankbook, according to Fields, is in the hands of a Detroit attorney, whose name he has forgotten.

Court Suits Hasten Payment of Taxes

Almost simultaneously with the filing of about 200 suits for collection of taxes on personal property the office of City Assessor and Tax Collector Harry Williams was flooded today with checks representing taxes due from the defendants in the suits.

The suits were filed during the week by City Attorney Leon E. Gray. They represented small tax collections, totaling about $1100, but under the law these taxes had to be collected.

"The court action got results," says Williams. "I doubt if very many of those lawsuits will have to go to court. Indications point to a probable 99 per cent collection without court argument. The taxes may all be cleaned up by the end of next week."

U. C. Professor Talks Before Local Club

Professor Henry F. Grady of the University of California department of economics, addressed the Mutual Business Men's club at the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

Grady told of our business relations with the European countries and their effects upon Oakland. He declared the inflated prices were caused by the United States selling to Europe on credit.

PREREQUISITES FOR SUCCESS OF WOMEN ARE TOLD

Miss Morgan, First of Sex to Be S. F. Supervisor, Points Out Qualifications.

Margaret Mary Morgan, the first woman supervisor in San Francisco, presented to the Business and Professional Woman's Club of Oakland the prerequisites for a successful woman candidate for public office, following the regular luncheon of the week.

The qualifications as she presented them are as follows:

1. Membership in a business or professional woman's club.
2. Membership in all churches.
3. Membership in several social clubs, thereby gaining publicity.
4. A good campaign manager.
5. Ability to make 18 speeches a day without fatigue.
6. Ability to seem to be always on the job.
7. Confidence in yourself and success.

"A petticoat should not indicate that a girl should be trained alone as a housewife," Miss Morgan told the club. "Many boys should be taught to do the dishes and the girl sent out into the world if her ability points that way."

"Women need to be trained to know what they want and how to go and get it," the speaker declared. "They do not get their value out of time."

"Men, however, kill more time putting over a one cent or $100,000 business than any woman I ever associated with," Miss Morgan commented.

"Public business may be benefited by women's participation in affairs, according to the San Francisco supervisor."

Pennies Flood Banks As Tax Is Repealed

ATLANTA, Feb. 23.—Since the removal of war taxes on soft drinks, confections and other commodities about the only use Atlantans can find for pennies is in paying Atlanta's 7 per cent wartime surtax, with the result that the banks here are being swamped with pennies turned in by retail storekeepers. Deposits of pennies in Atlanta banks have increased 50 per cent since January 1, it was revealed by inquiry at the various banking institutions.

It is estimated by men in position to know that two million pennies passed over the soda and confectionery counters of Atlanta each month before the removal of the luxury tax.

"Shimmy" Is Shorn Of Many Shivers

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The "shimmy" of this year is to be shorn of many of its shivers and shakes and the "tango" transformed into an inoffensive exhibition that could be performed at a young ladies' academy, according to the decision of dancing professors.

Forty-five of them met in Paris to consider the new dances to be introduced this year and to modify existing ones. After somewhat violent discussion it was decided that only the "shimmy" and the "tango" needed attention as likely to offend the aesthetic taste. One new dance will be seen and will be called the "balancello."

Yakima Indians Prefer to Remain Government Wards

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Halting of the march of civilization so far as the Yakima Indians of Washington State are concerned was asked of the government today by Chief Mennoek, who appeared with a delegation from his tribe before officials of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

With considerable eloquence and at very great length through an official interpreter, Chief Mennoek and associates declared they "wanted to be Indians as long as the sun rises and the sun sets."

They did not want, they said, the government to assume private ownership of their lands, take over responsibility for conduct of their own business or American citizenship, and they cited the original treaty made between their forefathers and government giving them rights.

Assistant Commissioner Merritt told them that President Harding had just signed an order which extends for ten years the period of government guardianship over those members of the tribe who are declared to be incompetent to handle their own affairs.

Chief Mennoek was handed the original copy of the presidential proclamation and after examining it said the Indians would take it, but that they wanted the government control continued "forever."

Merritt informed him ten years was the longest period for which one extension could be made, but it could be extended again in 1932, and he further advised the Indians to adopt the customs of the white men around them, particularly as to cultivation of the land on their reservation which the government has already put under irrigation.

The delegation, partly satisfied, arranged to return home after discussing the matter with the House and Senate committees on Indian affairs.

38,000,000 Gallons Whisky for Decade

By W. H. ATKINS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The United States will have to get along with 38,000,000 gallons of whisky during the next ten years, according to a decision reached today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, following a survey of the entire prohibition situation and a series of conferences with enforcement officials.

During the ten-year period there will be no importations of whisky and none will be manufactured in this country.

It was Haynes' edict that the medical needs of the United States require only 2,000,000 gallons of whisky a year in the present stage of consumption.

EX-OFFICIAL GOES TO SAN QUENTIN

Edgar R. Larson, alias Arthur Bullock, one time county attorney of Plute county, Utah, was sent to San Quentin prison today to serve a sentence of from one to fourteen years for passing a fictitious check. This in spite of the recommendation of the probation officer that Larson be admitted to probation.

Larson was arrested on September 19, 1921, charged with passing a worthless check for $100 on the First National Bank of Oakland. The check, drawn on the First National Bank of Delano, Cal., by the Union Lumber Company of Delano, was signed by Arthur Bullock, vice-president and manager. It was presented by Larson, together with a letter purporting to be from the Delano bank, and cashed by the bank. Later it was returned marked "No funds."

When Larson was arrested and his room at the hotel searched $90 other blank checks were found.

It was Larson's previous record that convinced the Court he would be safer behind prison bars. He has swindled by worthless checks a number of times, it appears from investigation.

OFFICIAL AID FOR IDLE OPPOSED

BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—On the ground that it is the duty of the citizens and not the city to take care of the unemployed, the City Council today refused to act on the motion of Councilman Carl Zartick to appropriate $100 monthly to hire an employment secretary.

Councilman Zartick proposed the hiring of Hollis Thompson, unemployed secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who was dismissed during the recent retrenchment activities of the Council. He said that there are 200 men in Berkeley in dire need of assistance.

Mayor Louis Bartlett said that the citizens' unemployment committee has called a meeting for next week and suggested the matter be handled as in Oakland through the medium of benefits and drives. Ira Morris, Berkeley banker, is chairman of the committee.

Berkeley Merchants Oppose Dark Streets

BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—That street lights of the city should be curtailed only as a last resort and that every other economy should be effected first was the statement of the Dwight Way and Shattuck Merchants' Association sent today in a communication to the council.

Vigorous protest against the reduction of street lights 50 per cent was made by the club, of which F. L. Saylor is president and G. R. Robertson secretary.

That a similar protest will be made by the Ashby Community club was stated by Secretary John Peterson. Lack of funds to meet current expenses caused the council to take action in turning off the street lights.

DEATH, DISASTER IN WAKE OF HEAVY BLIZZARD IN EAST

Five Die When Train and Snowplow Collide; Six Frozen in Midwest.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 24.—The casualty list of the storm just past included:

Five persons met death near Minneapolis in a collision between a Great Northern railway train and a snowplow which had been sent out to clear away huge drifts.

Four men were frozen to death in the Twin Cities.

A woman was frozen near Langford, S. D.

A woman was electrocuted near Rochester, Minn.

A man was frozen at Dilworth, Minn.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 24 (By International News Service).—The death toll from the storm that buried half a dozen States of the northwest and completely isolated some sections for the past 72 hours, today was known to be at least nine, and it is feared that when wire communication is restored, reports from other towns and cities will bring the number to at least 15 dead and 50 injured.

FIVE KILLED IN WRECK.

Four of the known dead were buried under snowdrifts, and five were killed and eleven injured late yesterday afternoon when the Great Northern's crack Winnipeg flyer, bound from Minneapolis and running hours behind schedule, collided head-on with a rotary snowplow near Montrose, Minn., 30 miles due west of Minneapolis.

Seventy-five passengers who had been transferred from two other trains stalled in the snow were in the coaches of the flyer when the accident occurred. Many of these were only slightly injured. Because of the lack of physicians the injured were brought to Minneapolis for treatment. Both the passenger train and the rotary plow were equipped with two engines each, and of the four engine crews only one man escaped alive and he was uninjured.

When the trains struck each other head-on two passenger cars buckled together.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The Middle West was beginning to recover somewhat today from the storm which caused a sudden drop in the temperature to below freezing and brought snow and sleet which fell over a large area from Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin down into the northern part of Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

WOLVES ATTACK CATTLE.

In the Deep Creek and Milligan sections of Montana wolves in drives were driven by the heavy snow to populated districts and attacked domestic animals. Seventy head of cattle were reported killed at one point.

Japan Asked to Aid U. S. In Crushing Dope Traffic

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The United States has made a formal protest to the Japanese government against the smuggling of opium, morphine, heroin and other narcotics into this country by means of Japanese steamships. It was learned authoritatively today.

Replying to the American complaint, the Tokyo foreign office has informed this government that efforts will be made to prevent illegal traffic in drugs, and has requested Japanese shipowners to cooperate in suppressing the traffic.

The State Department is understood to have brought the matter to the attention of the Japanese government some time ago, following complaints from government narcotics agents in San Francisco and Seattle that great quantities of dope were finding their way into hands of American vendors through sailors from Japanese ships.

Great drug crimes on the Pacific coast, such as are now figuring in the wrought damage estimated at several millions of dollars. The arrival of the cold weather, however, brought relief from the flood tide of the storm. No funerals were held in Green Bay for two days because of the deep snowdrifts.

In North Dakota only meager reports from scattered precincts where scheduled Non-Partisan caucuses were held Wednesday were available because of the storm. It was estimated that less than half the caucuses were held.

Lower Michigan, which experienced a heavy rainfall during the last two days, was in the grip of the blizzard today and the wind reached a maximum velocity of 55 miles an hour in the vicinity of Detroit.

WINDS BLOWN DOWN.

Nebraska felt a 30-mile wind accompanied by sleet which put 20,000 miles of telephone lines out of commission, while South Dakota despatches said that heavy damage had been caused in that State by wind and sleet.

Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Northern Texas were recovering today with a promise of warmer weather by tonight. Illinois points reported that the storm had apparently reached its maximum at noon yesterday.

Chicago felt the cold yesterday when the thermometer fell rapidly from the 67 maximum to near the 29 above mark early today. Snow flurries accompanied the drop in temperature.

The cold wave was moving rapidly eastward today.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24.—Central and Western Ontario cities were reported today gradually to be recovering from the sleet and snow storms of the past few days, with street car, telephone, water and telegraph services almost back to normal. The northern section of the province, however, was in the grip of a furious blizzard. Reports of reaching here stated the storm was playing havoc with operation of steam roads, and that zero weather was causing great discomfort to inhabitants of a wide territory.

ZIONIST ENVOY CHIEF TO SPEAK IN S. F. TONIGHT

Head of Palestine Commission Addresses Jewish Women on Project.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Dr. Nahum Sokolow, journalist and diplomat of London, and one of the leaders of the Zionist movement, will deliver an address tonight at Temple Emanuel-EL. At the same time Professor Otto Warburg, of the University of Berlin, a member of the Sokolow party, will speak at Temple Beth Israel.

Dr. Sokolow attended a reception given by the Alliance of Jewish Women last night in the ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel. Following the ovation he addressed the gathering on a generalization of the aim and purpose of the delegation of which he is the head.

"Unless there is fastness of purpose and the executive unity of both sexes," he said, "it will be too late to protect and prevent the extermination of our race. There are hundreds of thousands of suffering women and children in Israel, and we, their God-appointed protectors, must not desert them in this their time of need."

He appealed especially to the women to give and organize for giving, morally, financially and spiritually, for the great constructive program of the Zion relief. Dr. Sokolow thanked the members of the association, which make up the alliance, for their reception given him at the city hall and the "tolerant" spirit of the entire city toward his cause.

Mrs. Julius Baer, president of the alliance, was chairman of the day, and the others seated with her were Mesdames A. Hirschburg, Ruben Rinder, Jessie Steinhardt, J. Daube, T. Rosenthal, A. ## MONEY JUMPS GIVE TRAVELER HIS WINE FREE

MUNICH, Feb. 24.—(By Associated Press).—The fluctuating rates of exchange in Europe bring about some humorous transactions. Recently an Englishman on his way from Germany to Switzerland purchased a bottle of wine for 500 crowns. In the Austrian Tyrol. After drinking the wine he kept the bottle and, when he passed the Swiss frontier, sold it for 50 centimes. A Swiss 50-centime piece is worth 700 Austrian crowns, so that the Englishman not only had his wine without cost, but gained 200 crowns.

Optimist Club Told Of Growth of Firm

The Optimist club ate an old-fashioned chicken dinner and heard the story of the eight brothers who started with a horse and wagon and built up a big moving and warehouse business, when the members held their weekly luncheon today on the mezzanine floor of the Alhambra warehouse on San Pablo avenue. Pianos and stored articles were moved from the mezzanine and the Optimists were seated at improvised tables and served with dinner, which was prepared next door and carried in by a special corps of waiters. Bekins was toastmaster, had charge of the program and was clearer of the bird.

The Optimists were taken on a tour of the plant and the operation of the business was explained by Bekins. In 1920 the total production of cement in the United States was about 300,000 barrels.

YELLOWLEY GOES EAST, DELAYING HINTED SHAKEUP

E. Forrest Mitchell Is Still in Command of Dry Forces; Schainman Rumors.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Edward C. Yellowley, personal representative of Prohibition Commissioner Roy C. Haynes, today is en route to Washington having in his possession a mass of data obtained during a survey of prohibition enforcement conditions on the Pacific coast.

His departure has given rise to further conjecture on the possibility or probability of E. Forrest Mitchell, prohibition director, resigning from office and being supplanted by Samuel F. Rutter, who is scheduled to arrive here from the east in the near future.

Mitchell and Yellowley were in conference several hours yesterday. Expressions of concern in other circles are interpreted by many as a good omen as far as Mitchell remaining in office is concerned.

The possibility of Rutter assuming Mitchell's office, however, is a matter of concern in other circles. The apprehension has been expressed that Rutter may have both the intent and means of making a thorough survey of alleged liquor law violations here, particularly in the case of Paul Schainman. Last year Schainman was summoned to appear before Rutter, then acting prohibition director, and explain the disappearance of a down-town cooperage establishment, of 3000 gallons of whiskey owned by Schainman.

Schainman declared that the liquor had been stolen. He declined to discuss the matter further on the advice of his attorney. A true bill later was returned against him by a federal grand jury but the bill was not signed by the then United States attorney and the case since has languished.

Woman Trapped in Room Is Rescued From Flames

Mrs. Emma A. Graves, a seamstress, 70 years old and partly blind, was carried from a flaming room and her son, Paul Graves, a pneumonia convalescent, narrowly escaped burning to death when fire, caused by escaping gas, destroyed their home at 1714 Eleventh avenue early today.

Edward Beckwith, with treasurer for Corps No. 1, Salvation Army, who lives on the first floor of the same building, heard the woman's cries for help and rushed upstairs, where he found Mrs. Graves trapped in her bedroom. He wrapped the woman in a blanket and, despite her struggles, carried her downstairs through the smoke-filled hallway to safety. Mrs. Graves, crazed from the fire, fought her rescuer.

FIRE NEAR GAS JET.
The fire broke out in the rear of the Graves flat at about 2:30 o'clock near a gas jet. Paul Graves, who is recovering from pneumonia, was sleeping in a room in the front of the house, while his mother was in a bedroom at the rear, near the gas jet where the fire broke out. Awakened by the smoke, Graves attempted to make his way to his mother's bedroom. He was unable to get through the smoke, due to his weakened condition, and made his way downstairs, where from the doorway of the flat he called for help.

The flames followed the gas pipe up the wall, and in a few minutes the entire rear portion of the dwelling was a mass of flames. Mrs. Graves awoke to find her bedroom on fire and filled with smoke. She tried to reach the door, but found that she was trapped in the center of the room from the flames, and called for help.

TRAPPED WOMAN.
Her cries awoke the Beckwith family, who reside on the first floor of the building at 1712. Beckwith smelled the smoke and ran to the porch, where he found Graves in an exhausted condition. Graves told him that his mother was still in the building and Beckwith entered the hall and went up stairs. He went through two rooms before he came to the place where the aged woman was trapped.

Finding Mrs. Graves, Beckwith took a blanket from the bed and wrapped it around her. The woman, screaming to the man to leave her alone, fought against the efforts of her rescuer, and it required some time before Beckwith was able to subdue the woman and carry her through the flames which were eating around the doorway and down the stairs to safety.

T. L. Christanson, an attorney, who lives at 1730 Eleventh avenue, aided the fire department and aided in carrying furniture and personal belongings from the Graves residence. When the department arrived almost the entire upper floor of the two-story flat building was in flames. The blaze was finally brought under control by the firemen, who worked under the direction of Battalion Chief Martin Carlson, and damage was estimated at about $300. Mrs. Graves and her son were taken to a home of relatives who live near by.

According to Carlson, the fire probably was caused from a leaky gas fixture, where the flames broke out.

WOMAN IN FAKE JEWEL ROBBERY SUSPECTED ANEW

Confessed Author of Insurance Plot Believed Implicated in Ohio Scheme.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Feb. 24.—After the alleged confession of Mrs. Sarah L. M. Robertson that she "staged" the hold-up at her Deal Beach home last Saturday night, the police today were seeking to learn if she is the same woman who, a year ago, collected $10,000 from an insurance concern for the reputed theft of gems in Columbus, Ohio.

The police last night recovered Mrs. Robertson's jewels, which were supposed to have been taken by a robber. She gave the authorities a note to the person in whose custody the gems were, and they were turned over without further ado. Two of the pieces recovered, the police say, correspond exactly to descriptions of gems alleged to have been stolen from Mrs. Robertson in Columbus.

According to the Ohio city's police, Mrs. Robertson was robbed while visiting a friend there. The police say she included in her confession a statement that she was driven to desperation by embarrassments in her real estate business and that she had planned, in addition to the "fake" robbery of herself, two real robberies of New York friends.

The recovered jewels are said to be worth $29,000, although Mrs. Robertson claims their value to be $50,000.

THE LARGEST CHAIN DEPARTMENT STORE ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD

Welfare of Indians Urged By Women

By EDNA B. KINARD.

The problem of preparing the Indian for citizenship is claiming close attention from organized women. Special pleas for interest in the red man are being sent broadcast over the state by Mrs. H. A. Atwood, of Riverside, chairman of Indian Welfare, General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Atwood is also interested in securing the aid of the United States Commission on Indian Affairs. From the board of directors of the federation she has obtained authority to enlist the aid of the fifty state federations in supporting Miss Guernsey's candidacy. Plans are being directed by Mrs. Atwood to the end that the public may come to know the California Indian as he really is. She proposes a survey of the entire situation. In this project it is not to be overlooked that the eastern end of Alameda county has the greatest number of Indians. Having a complete knowledge of the actual condition of the original holders of land, Mrs. Atwood urges that steps be taken toward developing health conditions, housing conditions and opportunities for instruction in sanitation and correct living.

Attention is called to legislation pending in Congress asking that Indians of California be allowed to present their claims to the United States Court of Claims for adjudication, and a second bill asking for an appropriation of land for homeless Indians.

Miss Belle Garette, of Alameda, directing the work of the Indian Welfare Department in Alameda, is appointed to carry forward the federation program. A modern Indian village exhibition is to be installed in the Southwest Museum in Los Angeles for a month, beginning April 15. Mrs. Kate S. Vosburg is general manager of exhibits and will be assisted by Mrs. Atwood. Reservations are being searched and curios assembled which will typify the modern Indian as he is represented by his 15,000 fellows in the state. Los Angeles Federation of Women's Clubs is responsible for the ambitious project.

Plans for the annual convention, which will be held in the Twentieth Century clubhouse, Berkeley, in April, will lend interest to the executive board meeting called by Mrs. George A. Riggs, president of Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, for tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in the Y. W. C. A. Several matters of importance will be presented to the officers and department chairmen for consideration. Reports covering the past month's work will be presented.

A series of conferences, at which will be discussed questions of importance to the Parent-Teacher organizations, is being called for the early March by Mrs. W. H. Marston, president of second district, California Congress of Mothers. A meeting for time at the district board meetings, which occur in alternate months, Mrs. Marston has conceived the plan of familiarizing herself with the local leaders through the smaller forums.

Oakland Federation of Mothers and the associations of the city hold membership in the second district.

DEATH RATE IN ALL-AGE GROUPS SHOWS BIG DROP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The death rate in the United States decreased to 19.66 per 100,000 population in 1920 from 14.96 per 100,000 in 1910, according to figures announced today by the census bureau. All age groups showed a decline in death rate, but the most pronounced decrease was recorded in the figures covering infant mortality under one year of age, the 1920 rate being 9.66 per 100,000, compared with 13.053 per 100,000 in 1910, a decline of about 26 per cent. The rate for the group above 75 years of age, decreased from 14.26 to 13.480 per 100,000, approximately 6 per cent.

The decrease in all adult groups was attributed largely to the reduced rates from tuberculosis, typhoid fever and Bright's disease. The rate for tuberculosis showed a decrease in the ten-year period from 150 to 114 per 100,000; for typhoid fever, 24 to 8 per 100,000, and Bright's disease and acute nephritis, 29 to 89. Deaths from accidents of all kinds decreased from 84 to 71.

Diseases showing a serious increase in death rate were cancer, which increased from 16 to 33; influenza, 14 to 71, and puerperal causes, 15 to 18.

Invited to the first of the conferences on Tuesday, March 7, in the Oakland Y. W. C. A. The following day the Berkeley Mothers will confer in the Y. of the college with their leaders. Round tables in other cities will be announced later.

A silver buckle which had graced the foot of a belle at the Inaugural Ball in honor of George Washington, the property of Miss Julia Jenkins, a wedding gift made by George and Martha Washington to Colonel John Taylor and now the possession of Mrs. Samuel Shepard; a spinning wheel and samples of a dress for which Mrs. Hubbard, 92 years old, had raised the wool, spun and dyed the thread and wove the cloth, were contributed to the colonial exhibition of the Hill Club, celebrating the birth anniversary of Washington this week.

The Mount Vernon Home and the first president of the United States as a sportsman contributed themes to the program. Fancy dances were presented.

Mrs. Frederick Adams, president of the Oakland Club, and Mrs. Rufus A. Berry, president of the Twentieth Century Club, were guests of honor at the tea which was held at the home of Mrs. F. M. Jones, Mrs. F. M. Hildebrand will be hostess on Monday.

Mrs. George Herron, corresponding secretary for second district, California Congress of Mothers, was Founders' Day speaker yesterday at Highland School Parent-Teacher association. Special stress was placed on membership.

With an interesting program being arranged, Technical High School Parent-Teacher association is claiming an important place on the Monday calendar. A social meeting when pleasure and serious things will equally divide the hour will demand the presence of the 150 members.

Already the nominating committee is busily engaged in framing the annual ticket upon which action will be taken at a nearby business session.

JURY EXONERATES HUSBAND SLAYER

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 24.—The shooting of J. E. Davis by his wife, Mrs. Eva Davis, here Tuesday night was called a "justifiable homicide," and Mrs. Davis was exonerated of all blame in a verdict turned in by a coroner's jury after the inquest this afternoon. Unless some one makes a complaint against her, Mrs. Davis probably will be released. District Attorney J. R. Dorsey said.

The verdict was apparently the direct result of Mrs. Davis' own testimony. She told a long story of suffering at the hands of her husband. She testified she had beaten her on a number of occasions and on the night that she shot him he had thrown her on the floor by catching her ankle, and that he had kicked and struck her.

Once she testified, when he had beaten her, he asked her to tell friends that the bruises had been caused from an automobile accident.

Canadians Ask N.Y. Scientist to Solve Mystery of Ghost

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Police and press having failed to solve the mystery of the haunted house of Antigonish, Nova Scotia, whose owner, Mrs. Davis, has aroused the entire Canadian province, science has been asked to solve the mystery.

The Halifax Herald, which recently sent a reporter to Antigonish valley, only to have a report that he was slapped on the wrist by unseen but quite substantial hands, today wired Walter Frank Pierce, director of the American Institute for Scientific Research, requesting that body to undertake an investigation. Dr. Pierce is reserving decision.

The "haunted house" is the old homestead of Alexander MacDonald, died of winter Macdonald, his wife and their adopted daughter fled the house, terrorized by unseen "things" that had caused his braided the tail of his cattle and started mysterious fires of ordinary not highly combustible materials in his home.

So seriously was the tale taken by the counts that the Halifax Herald and the provincial police sent representatives to stay three nights and days in the "haunted house." They returned a week ago with shaken nerves, endorsing the farmer's story and adding to it, saying they had been awakened in the night by slaps from unseen hands.

Thus baffled, the Canadians have called upon American science to route the Antigonish ghost.

FLOGGED MAN ACCUSES POLICE. ENSLEY, Ala., Feb. 24.—Carroll E. Clark, young married man, who was severely flogged Tuesday night after he had been carried eight miles from town into a deep wood, today charged that members of the Ensley police department were his assailants. Police denied the charge.

Sixth Largest Liner Completes First Trip

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The White Star liner, Homeric, sixth largest steamer afloat, completed her maiden voyage across the Atlantic when she arrived today. The vessel has a registered tonnage of 33,526, being exceeded in size by only two of the White Star boats, the Mauretania and the Olympic. Weather conditions delayed the ship, which was to have arrived February 22.

She was built by the North German Lloyd Company, which planned to name her the Columbia, but the outcome of the world war took her from her German designers. She was taken over by the allied reparations commission after the armistice and was later purchased by the White Star line.

THIRTEEN STORES BURN.

SEATTLE, Feb. 24.—Thirteen stores in the Stimson building were damaged by fire, water and smoke and two workmen, H. Cummings and Alex. Hauge, had a narrow escape from death when they fought their way up from the cellar of the building to the street level, in a fire here yesterday estimated to have done damage amounting to $11,250. The fire was said to have started from the explosion of a ten-gallon pot of face cream, which was being heated on a plate in the basement of the building.

Bootlegger Faces*San Quentin Term

MODESTO, Feb. 24.—P. Cortese, bootlegger, recently fined $500 by justice of the Peace Rice, faces the possibility of a term in San Quentin as a result of his arrest for breaking into the Bailey warehouse at Oakdale Wednesday night.

Sheriff Dallas declares Cortese confessed to breaking into the warehouse and, with the aid of his brother, Joe, and V. Baltrami, carting away thirty gallons of jackass brandy. It was part of a large amount of liquor taken from his ranch near Oakdale on February 11, when Dallas raided the place.

The liquor was found buried in the yard of the Cortese ranch, and then came the confession, according to Dallas.

The officers traced automobile tracks from the warehouse to the Cortese ranch.

Charges of burglary and transporting and possession of liquor were filed against the three men.

THEATERS ARE MERGED.

SAN RAFAEL, Feb. 24.—Consolidation of the Orpheus and Lyric theaters, San Rafael's leading motion picture houses, was announced today.

The merger, which is the result of negotiations which have been in progress several months, provides, it is reported, for the closing of the Lyric, excepting on Saturdays and Sundays, and the diverting of film contracts to the Orpheus.

George Sargent, formerly owner of the Lyric, becomes manager of the Orpheus.

FAITH HEALER'S EFFORT TO DIM SUN IS FAILURE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—Isaiah Cudney, an alleged faith healer, known also as "Brother Isaiah," tried to "dim the sun," but failed, according to testimony offered yesterday at his trial for manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Margaret Dunbar of Pomona, Calif., a day after he had treated her for rheumatism by the "laying on of hands."

That testimony was given by J. S. Dunbar, a son of the dead woman, who asserted that while he was attending one of the meetings of the defendant on "Miracle Hill" here last summer, Cudney "raised his hands to the sky" and said:

"I am dimming the sun. I ask it to cease its light."

"But the sun kept on shining," said the witness.

Edward N. Dunbar, another son, declared that when Cudney treated his mother, he heard her joints "pop."

Rotarians Pay Washington Homage on Founding Day

The Oakland Rotary Club devoted its regular weekly luncheon at the Hotel Oakland yesterday to a joint observance of the seventeenth anniversary of the founding of Rotary and the anniversary of Washington's birthday, interpreting the significance of the double occasion with equal degrees of good fellowship and solemnity. A program of music, addresses and a pageant were program features.

The pageant was staged by pupils from the Tompkins, Lafayette and Technical high schools. Twenty-three girls typified the twenty-three Nations where Rotary has organizations.

Charles Wilson, of Alameda, was the principal speaker, substituting for Fred Reed, absent because of illness. Wilson declared that Washington was not a real revolutionist, that he was by instinct and training a conservative, a scholar and a gentleman.

"But," he continued, "Washington saw the necessity of combining the 'divine right of kings,' he did not hesitate to consider what property losses would be involved despite the fact he was an extensive property-holder. He risked all he possessed."

According to Wilson, Washington possessed many attributes that would have made him a "good Rotarian." He said that the wealthy men of America, like Washington, should be "real advisers and not in times of stress or issue, think out of personal losses or gains but more of how they best can benefit the community." An active and intelligent interest in elections and all matters of public interest affected by citizens, he said, was the part demanded by good citizenship. He said that the average good citizen should vote at all elections on matters of public welfare and, if the occasion arose, be a candidate for office.

PATRIOTISM DEFINED.

Real patriotism, Wilson asserted, does not consist in "waving the flag, singing the Star Spangled Banner, or chasing 'Reds' out of the country. Real patriotism is the real, practical, constructive service you give the community in which you live."

Henry Bruner, an executive of the San Francisco Rotary club, traced the expansion of the Rotary club from the time of its inception in Chicago in November, 1908. Rotary organizations, he said, exist in twenty-three nations. In January, 1918, there were 365 Rotary clubs; in January, 1922, there were 1020 clubs, with an aggregate membership of 10,000.

"You can see what a wonderful force Rotary is for all constructive, progressive endeavor," he said. He said Rotary is the "only real international in existence; it is a wonderful force in world peace, trade and fellowship."

Oakland, he declared, was the third city in America to form a Rotary club and that eight of the eleven first clubs organized had been formed on the Pacific coast. He credited the coast with being responsible for the rapid growth of Rotary.

IRISH PLAN TO RETURN HOME IN LARGE NUMBERS

At Least 2500 From U. S. and Canada Expected To Join in Big Pilgrimage.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 24.—Inspired by the advance made toward Irish independence hundreds of Irishmen are planning to join the pilgrimage to their home country, which was recently announced by James E. Deery, national president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Dr. Deery, in a statement here today, declared that at least 2500 persons from the United States and Canada are expected to join the pilgrimage which will sail from New York late in June or during the first week in July.

"The national board of directors," said Mr. Deery, "has decided to charter a big liner which will sail from New York and will take the pilgrims direct to Ireland, in all probability making the landing at Queens-town."

The pilgrims will return at their

OHIO HEN LAYS GIGANTIC EGG, 9 3/4 BY 7 1/4 INCHES

(By International News Service.) ELYRIA, O., Feb. 24.—9 3/4 by 7 1/4. No, it is not the dimensions of a new house.

It is the size, in inches, of an egg presented to T. Ries of Kipton by one of his hens.

Ries is keeping a close watch on his hens in an effort to learn which one laid Ohio's largest egg.

Eggologists believe that it is a double or triple egg. They contend the egg is nothing out of the ordinary any more than is the birth of twins, triplets or quadruplets.

WHERE DO YOU BELONG? MANCHESTER, Eng., Feb. 24.—Professor T. H. Pear of the University of Manchester divides people into two classes, extroverts and introverts. The former are physically courageous; the latter mentally superior.

The board of directors that made preliminary arrangements for the trip is composed of Dr. Deery, Richard Dwyer, Boston; Patrick Keane, Montreal; John O'Dea, Philadelphia; John Sheehy, Minneapolis; Joseph Laughlin, Philadelphia; John Doyle, Baltimore; M. W. Delaney, Chicago; M. L. Sweeney, Cleveland; and P. K. Murphy, Detroit.

HUMBLE LOYALTY STRIKING QUALITY OF POPE PIUS XI

Iowa University Professor Became Acquainted With Prelate in Library.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Feb. 24.—His humble loyalty is the striking quality of the new pope. Plus XI, as noted by a personal friend, Dr. B. L. Ullman, professor and head of the department of Latin and Greek at the University of Iowa.

"He was kindly and courteous and a very human being," Professor Ullman says.

"I first met Achille Ratti in 1908 when I visited the Ambrosian library at Milan to examine certain Latin manuscripts," Dr. Ullman said. "At that time he was a plain 'doctor of the Ambrosian' and acted as assistant librarian. The Ambrosian library is one of the famous libraries of Italy and contains some very valuable manuscripts. These manuscripts were Ratti's constant companions and friends. He worked with them all day long, examining and studying the old treasury which he loved."

"The most striking quality which I found in Ratti in 1906 was his attitude of respect, admiration, loyalty and deep humility toward his superior, the librarian of the Ambrosian, Antonio Ceriani, who even then was ill and who died soon after. It is certain that Ceriani had a profound influence on Ratti's life. After Ceriani's death, Ratti, who succeeded him as librarian, was very active in bringing out a memorial volume of scholarly papers in Ceriani's honor. His attitude toward Ceriani is no doubt an indication of one of the new pope's chief qualities, his humble loyalty."

HELPFUL FRIEND.

"Ratti was very helpful to me in my work, not only in 1906, but also in 1907 and 1910, when I revisited the Ambrosian and spent some time there in intimate contact with the man."

"Classical scholars and palaeographers respected Ratti for his excellent scholarship as displayed in numerous learned articles. These articles are generally concerned with manuscripts."

"I possess several of his articles, autographed copies which he sent me at various times. We kept up a desultory correspondence from our first meeting in 1906."

"In one of his articles he tells about rummaging among some old manuscripts and coming upon certain fragments which 'suddenly' attracted my attention and piqued my curiosity. There you have the characteristic attitude of the scholar seeking a discovery. It was a great surprise to me that he left the field of scholarship for the diplomatic and executive. We have one more illustrious example to prove that scholarship is a splendid foundation for any career."

EXPRESSIVE THOUGHTS.

"I was greatly astonished to learn that the new pope was nearly 65 years old. Judging by the way he looked in 1910, my guess was that he was not much more than 50 at the present time. He has many years before him. The pictures recently published are excellent likenesses. The very recent ones clearly show the change in facial expression due to his change of occupation from the field of quiet scholarship to that of more strenuous executive work."

"In spite of the few weeks I spent in his company I feel that I know the pope intimately, because we sat side by side all day long and exchanged views on matters of common interest. He was kindly and courteous to me and a very human being. In 1910 he discussed with Mrs. Ullman, who accompanied me, the best methods of sweeping up floors without dust."

Auto Exhaust Used to Kill Rats in Garage

(By International News Service.) ELYRIA, O., Feb. 24.—Exhaust from autos is the latest "poison gas" employed to kill rats.

The innovation was used with success at Columbia, resulting in the killing of eleven rats, seven bushels of sparrows and several pecks of mice during a campaign participated in by most of the residents of that community.

A hose was attached to the exhaust pipe on the auto and the nozzle inserted under a barn, garage, or into a rat-hole, asphyxiating the rodents.

BEES IGNORE WEATHER.

(By International News Service.) CROOKSVILLE, O., Feb. 24.—Although weather bureau officials predicted snow a few days ago, local bees were not fooled. At noon on that day passengers at the Pennsylvania Railroad station noticed bees fitting about, just as though it were June.

TWO WOMEN ARE ELECTED IN RUSS SOVIET CONGRESS

Wife of Premier Lenin Is One of Feminine Delegates Chosen to Rule.

MOSCOW, Feb. 24.—Only two women were elected members of the Central Executive Committee, the real governing body, of Soviet Russia at the last All-Russian Soviet Congress recently held here.

The two women members are N. K. Oulianova, wife of Premier Lenin, and president of the Chief Political and Educational Commission, who is active in organizing women's Communist organizations; and Mme. Alexandra Kollant, who formerly was minister of the Commissariat of Social Welfare.

The committee has 350 members. Among them are Bela Kun, who was leader of the Communist movement in Hungary; G. E. Zinovief and Karl Radek, all three of whom are especially active in the affairs of the Third Internationale.

The great attention that Moscow is paying to the Ukraine, which is daily becoming more independent in its attitude and takes its orders less and less from Moscow, was indicated by the election to the Central Executive Committee of three Ukrainians. They were Rakowsky, president of the Ukrainian republic; Manuelsky, the Ukrainian Commissar of Agriculture; and Skyrbnik, Ukrainian Commissar of Home Affairs.

All the other well-known Bolshevik leaders were returned to membership on the committee. Among the number were Premier Lenin, Leon Trotsky, General Budenny, cavalry leader; George V. Chicherin, Commissar of Foreign Affairs; L. B. Krassin, Commissar of Foreign Trade; J. V. Stalin, Commissar of National Minorities; and Leo Kame-neff, president of the Moscow Soviet.

INTER-ORGANIZATION CORRESPONDENCE

THE FULLER BRUSH COMPANY
HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

To Mr. Roy Burge, Manager, Oakland Office
From Mr. A. C. Fuller, President

Feb. 15, 1922

Subject: Advertising in Oakland

You will be interested to know that our recent investigation shows the women of your territory to be more interested in domestic economy than in almost any other section. Therefore I feel we should make a special effort to give these people every advantage of Fuller Service, and suggest that you publish a series of forceful advertisements, telling

1. That Fuller Brushes are never sold in stores.
2. That Fuller men are picked men, and trained to give advice on housekeeping methods.
3. That these men are permanently employed, reside in their territory, and are all earnest, reliable gentlemen who may be freely admitted when they call—and that each one wears a Fuller Button so that he may be identified.
4. That every home is entitled to a Free Demonstration of Fuller Brushes—without imposing any obligation upon the members of those households to buy our goods.
5. That no brush is genuine without the Fuller Red Tip Tag.
6. That we are the largest buyers of brush material in the world, therefore get better quality at lower prices, -- So do the users of Fuller Brushes.

SO we are about to make it especially easy for you to know Fuller Brushes. There are 45 of them, each designed for some special use, and each useful in many ways other than the single one for which it is particularly intended. Our job is to make Fuller Brushes as valuable to you as possible; the more use you get out of them, the more we shall sell.

Therefore we do not sell through stores, but send the Fuller Man to your home, where he will show you all of the many novel uses of each and every Fuller Brush. These are the brushes advertised every month in the leading magazines.

No brush is genuine without the Fuller Red Tip Tag. Every Fuller Man may be identified by the Fuller trade-mark button which he wears. He comes to be of service, and to tell you new and easier ways to clean the home. There are Fuller Brushes for both household and personal use.

We have branch offices in over 200 other cities, and the Fuller Man finds a ready welcome in more than 40,000 homes each day because of his helpful suggestions. He can be of use to you—as he has to others.

Welcome the Fuller Man.

U. S. CONSUL IS UPHELD AS BIG BUSINESS AID

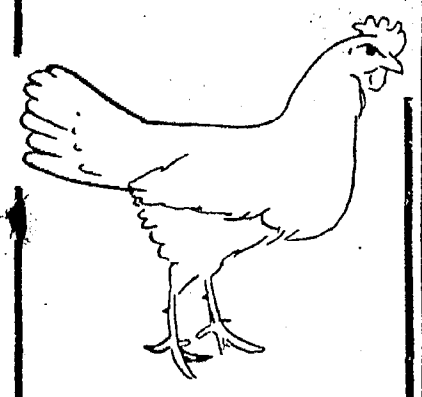

457 American Officials Prove
Big Help to American Interests.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Details of how the 457 American consuls now in the service of the State Department are "gathering information, extending protection, enforcing American laws and exerting American influence" in more than 400 cities of 50 countries, are set forth by Wilbur J. Carr, director of the consular service in the first issue of the American Consular Bulletin, a monthly published by the American Consular Association, an unofficial and voluntary organization embracing most of the members of the consular service of the United States.

"There is probably no class of officers of the government whose functions are less correctly understood by the public than consuls," says Director Carr. "To one man a consul is merely a visor of passports; to another the word consul signifies a glorified traveling salesman charged with the marketing of American goods in foreign lands. Many a mother knows the consul only as a good and kind friend in a far-away land who found and sent her wayward son back to the old home in the United States."

BUCYRUS, O., Feb. 24.—Miss

Georgia E. Hopley of Bucyrus, the first woman general prohibition agent to be attached to the mobile enforcement forces at national prohibition headquarters, Washington, in her new work will be carrying on a crusade started a generation back in her family.

In 1872-73, when he who talked of prohibition was accounted out of his head, a valiant band of women braving hoots and jeers, started to make this city unsafe for liquor. Mrs. Georgiana Hopley, who is dead now, was a member of that band. She was the "first woman general prohibition agent's" mother.

Miss Hopley comes of a long line of newspaper folk. One brother was the editor of the first and only prohibition paper in Crawford county. Seven of her brothers and sisters still are in newspaper work, here or elsewhere.

The late John Hopley, her father, as editor of the Bucyrus

Journal, was accorded the title of

"Nestor of Ohio Journalism."

Miss Hopley has another "first" to her credit. She is said to have been the first woman in Ohio to enter active newspaper work.

discovered many frauds, "gangs of rubber stamps for visas, counterfeit fee stamps and seals—all were found and destroyed and the practices

ATTACK SUSPECT MAY GO FREE IN EXTRADITION WAR

North Carolina Governor Is Roused by Canadian Judge's Demand for Witness.

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 24. (By the Associated Press.)—Unless North Carolina witnesses appear before next Friday to testify against Matthew Bullock, negro, who is wanted in North Carolina, on a charge of attempted murder, he will be unconditionally released, Judge Snider declared today in granting what he said would be his last remand in the case.

GOVERNOR AROUSED.
RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 24.—Governor Morrison of North Carolina, in a vigorous message sent today to Acting Secretary of State Fletcher at Washington, declared the state of North Carolina would not, under any circumstances, produce witnesses to testify before Judge Snider at Hamilton, Ont., as to the charge of attempted murder pending against Matthew Bullock, negro, whose extradition has been asked by the American government.

The North Carolina governor informed the acting secretary that if Canada would not honor the extradition "in the regular way" and if the state department could not convince the Canadian authorities that they should do so, "then I hope you will not hereafter request North Carolina or any other self-respecting state of the Union in any way to honor a request from Canada."

"If treaty relations with Canada are not such as to guarantee the return to this country a desperate criminal like Matthew Bullock without the states of this Union being subjected to the humiliation of having to appear before some judge in a petty judicial proceeding in Canada, it is certainly a distressing situation. I am not going to try North Carolina's honor and integrity before any judge in any foreign country."

BRITISH SAVING OF £87,000,000 IS MAPPED OUT

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—A third report on national expenditures, made public today by the economy committee, of which Sir Eric Geddes is chairman, recommends a further saving of £87,300,000 pounds sterling, principally in the colonial and revenue department.

A further reduction of 3,000,000 pounds, suggested on estimates of war pensions since the first report was issued, gives a grand total in proposed economies of nearly £7,000,000 pounds against 100,000,000 which the committee endeavored to find.

In order to make the further necessary economies, the committee suggests a reduction in naval expenditures made possible through the agreements reached at the Washington conference, such as reductions of naval oil stocks and storage and military expenditures on gunnery abroad, whereby the 13,000,000 pounds additional reduction can be realized.

Holding Husband

by Adele Garrison

"Sweet peas and apples," she said, when she had stopped laughing. "Oh, Uncle Dicky, you are so funny."

"Can she have candy?" Dicky asked Lillian.

"Not so, after a day or two," Lillian said. "They gave her a fairly hearty breakfast this morning, and I think she can eat anything in reason."

"Well, candy is certainly the most reasonable thing I know, isn't it, Marion?"

"Of course," she laughed. "Oh, Mumsie, this isn't like what I thought being in a hospital was at all! This is just like a birthday party with everybody I love around me."

The mignonette little face was aglow with happy enthusiasm, and I think there was a prayer of thankfulness in the heart of every one of us that the child who had loved so dearly was spared to life and undiminished health.

"Telegram for you, Miss Graham," Jerry Ticer stood in the doorway of our sitting room, cap in hand. With a bantered but not unduly hurt Junior enthroned in a high chair, Dicky, Mother Graham, my father and I were gathered around the luncheon table discussing one of Mrs. Ticer's delectable dishes, the cheering news of Marion, which Dicky and I had brought from the hospital.

My first thought, as always, was one of relief. The message which might lie in the yellow envelope, my second was a selfish one of relief as my eyes swept the table where all those nearest to me were gathered. But one glance at my mother-in-law's white face made me snatch the envelope and tear it open. Her daughters in faraway cities are always in her mind when telegraphic messages arrive.

"It's from Jim," I said quickly, looking at the signature first, that I might the sooner relieve her anxiety. Then I read the message aloud.

"Goods started this morning. Everything all right. Will see tomorrow."

JIM.

"WHAT DOES HE MEAN?"

"Why, that that man?" My mother-in-law's faint voice came from the irritated comment. "What does he mean by just tomorrow? He doesn't give you any time or anything. He couldn't have come today if the load got off this morning? They wouldn't have to leave Marion until 5 o'clock this afternoon. I know—they're taking a skylark for themselves before coming out. It probably isn't Jim's fault, at that. But that's all of a Katie—I wouldn't trust her."

Dicky winked at me, taking good care that his mother should not see him. While the corners of my father's mouth quirked with quiet amusement, her characterization of Katie is nothing new to any of us. It is a term in daily use in my mother-in-law's vocabulary when Katie is around. And yet, though my little maid tries my mother-in-law's slender stock of patience sorely, she genuinely likes the girl. It is only when Katie, I think, now returns home for her years she feared and detested the older woman.

"Perhaps Jim wanted to see his relatives before starting," suggested I. I have a curious little obsession of hearing Katie censured, although I frequently have to reduce her to order myself. But she has been with me so long, and has rendered me so many signals and faithful services that I cannot see a member of the family than a servant.

"His relatives?" snorted my mother-in-law in a tone which condescended poor Jim and his relatives to the uttermost depth of oblivion.

"Pass me the pepper, dearie, and let me pipe it," Dicky drawled provocatively.

"I obediently handed over the telegram, his mother turned on him, leveling it at a scapegoat for his irritation. I shrewdly suspected that Dicky had employed his queer phraseology simply to give her a chance at him.

"JUST TEN WORDS."

"Richard?" she said sharply. "Yes, dear. He dived his head in an imitation of Jerry Ticer's mannerism, which made me simulate a choke to hide a delighted chuckle. Jerry says 'Yes, mam' and 'No, mam,' whether he is answering 'man, woman or child. Then I remembered that Jerry was still standing in the doorway, and I flashed a quick glance of compunction at him, wondering if he had heard and resented Dicky's little by-play. But the good-natured lad, who, though honest, loyal and industrious, will never in Mother Graham's parlance, get the river afire, only laughed delightedly at Dicky, with apparent never a suspicion that he was the butt of the older man's jest.

STORY BOOK

A PIECE OF STRING.

(PRIZE STORY.)

The King of France had two sons. The oldest, who was called Reginald, was six years old. Clemens, who was the younger, was four years old. The only living relative beside the king was an uncle who was very wicked. This uncle knew that in late years Reginald would become king.

One night the uncle kidnapped the two boys. He took them to a small town in southern France. He gave them to a very kind lady whose name was Mrs. Hudson. Mrs. Hudson adopted the two boys, and called them Reginald and Clemens Hudson.

A year later Reginald was kidnapped by a band of robbers. Mrs. Hudson, being very poor, could not pay the ransom. Reginald was taken by two robbers to a little village on the outskirts of Paris. Reginald was the leader of the robbers until he was twenty-two years old. Then he ran away to Paris. Reginald would be busy on odd jobs he could get. He was now forty-two years old.

Then the king, Reginald's father, died.

The uncle now realized that he had committed a great sin by robbery, that he had kidnapped the former king's sons of the throne. So the next day the uncle set out for southern France where he had left the two sons of the king.

He then let Clemens be the king of France, for Reginald was given up for lost many years before. Clemens had been married ten years before, but his wife died five years afterwards. On her death bed she gave Clemens her ring in a little box tied with a small green string. It had red threads running through the center of it, and she told him to keep it as long as he lived.

Reginald still lived in the old shed in Paris. He saved everything that could be sold. He made little animals out of wood and sold them in the market place. One day Reginald started from home with his toy animals to be sold in the market. He thought he would make another animal, as he was passing the king's house he cut his finger. As he looked around he saw a little girl who had been adopted by the king. The little girl had been watching him pick up the string. She picked it up and Reginald wrapped it around his finger. Reginald said that the rag would come off, so the little girl ran into the house again and opened the same drawer. She looked for a piece of string. The string was loose, so she took the one which was tied around a little package. The little girl then tied the string around Reginald's finger. In return, he gave her an animal, and then went on to the market.

About two weeks later the king noticed that the string was gone of the package his wife had given him as a keepsake. The king sent word around the city, describing the string, and offered $10,000 reward for its return.

The next day Reginald was waiting past the market place and he noticed a piece of string and stopped to pick it up. As he picked it up he noticed a man watching him. He did not want to be seen picking up such an article, so he humbly put it in his pocket. The man watching him saw it was a piece of string and he asked to see it. The piece of string was white, so he asked Reginald what he did with it.

Reginald told the man that he

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

by ANDRE TRIDON

WHAT OUR UNCONSCIOUS DOES FOR US

I said yesterday that our unconscious was a marvelous time-and-labor-saving machine. How is that?

I wish to show you a street. The street is 56 feet wide. One automobile, 140 feet away, approaching at speed of 50 miles per hour. A trolley 200 feet away is moving toward me at 10 miles an hour.

Problem: How many steps of 36 inches should I take and at what speed, to cross the street safely. If I should try and do those sums consciously, I would never get across the street or I would get run over. I do all that calculating unconsciously and never get run over. The memories stored up in my eyes and muscles enable me to carry out a thousand actions of my own life without any conscious thought. I have attended experiments in which a medium was hypnotized and ordered to listen to columns of figures which would be read out to her after she had been awakened.

Uncle Wiggly Stories

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE CORN CAKE.

"Here's the pail, Uncle Wiggly," said Nurse Jane to the bunnies. "The gentleman one-eyed as the muskrat lady housekeeper came into the living-room from the kitchen of the hollow house."

"Yes, indeed! I should say you were pale!" cried the bunnies, as he came in. "Oh, if you are going to faint, I had better get Dr. Possum! I never saw you so pale before."

"Nonsense!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I'm not pale—that's just some white flour on the end of my nose. I'm looking on at the muskrat lady."

"I said here's the pail—A-L-L, and she spelled the word out for Uncle Wiggly. 'Here's the pail for you, take care of it, it's a little house and get me some sour milk, as you promised you would.'"

"Nurse Jane held out a little tin bucket to the bunny."

"Sour milk!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "You mean sweet, don't you?"

"No, though of course I could use sweet, answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. But sour milk is what I need."

"Better for what?" Uncle Wiggly wanted to know.

"Better for making corn or johnnie cake," said the bunny. "I don't know. Now don't keep me here all morning, Uncle Wiggly, making up funny jokes over to Mrs. Twissall's house and get me some sour milk, as you promised you would."

RY of Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

It's getting around to spring housecleaning time and the voice of the vacuum cleaner will shortly be heard in the land. And right here I'm going to arise and deliver a sermon.

There's nothing new about sermons. Someone is always setting 'em off and they usually have about as much effect on human life as the well-known drop of water on the duck's back. That's because they're theoretical. It's as practical and pertinent as a bunyol to it will answer a screaming need in every human soul that reads it. Moreover, it's short, which is the best thing that could be said about any sermon. Here it is.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO CLEAN ALL THE ROOMS IN ONE DAY.

That's all. And I'm convinced that if that advice could be followed in this spring housecleaning, the United States would experience long-needed tidal waves of peace and content. The real truth about spring has never been told. It's all very well to talk about the violets and apple blossoms, but who has any sense to feel with an apple blossom when the Misses have the dining room and the bedroom and the sitting room all together at the same time and you're skimming in the garage and eating gasoline?

Now there's no reason why she should tear them all up at once. There are about 300 other days in the year when her hardest duty is to rub cold cream into her face and wreck the neighbors' reputations.

My eye! Look what floated in with the tide! Ever since we opened this department I've been getting letters from all kinds of folks who loved a sailor—but the sailor sailed away. The letters are always the same. 'The lassie always loved—and the sailor always sailed. And only the girls know what happens to him after he sails. I've heard that he's got the habit of hanging on to a lamp post whenever a sailor home in sight, being as he were, of a sailing nature. And now come on and tell me the story of all men, they are the most trustworthy and yet most misunderstood! Can't he be? Is it possible that I've been hanging on to all this time and while I'm at it, I'm kidding aside, old top, if they've been abusing you, Jerry didn't know it. You surely look mighty good to me, and the next time any one comes peevish about a sailor I'm going to open the dictionary and let 'er rip!'

Dear Geraldine:

I have been reading your page in the Oakland TRIBUNE for a long time and I like it very much. You think it sure is interesting to me. I am a sailor in the U. S. navy and no doubt you do not hear from many of us. I have read all that you have in the paper and while I like it, I like your sister-in-law who lives in Oakland, sends me all your page. I have often wished that I would run across something that I could like to ask you.

Here is my question: Why is it that the people who say they love me in it, and that is the way we put it, think so little and mistreat me in uniform in every way they can. The people in general think that a sailor is too low to be looked at and have no respect for them. Now, why is it, Jerry? I will give you my little opinion of it. I consider a man in uniform as good as any man—if not better—than on the outside, and he is. I must say, however, that there are a few who do spoil things for the rest of the boys. I have been in all parts of the world and through the United States and I have seen and heard lots on the subject on which I have written. But on which I am satisfied with what I have heard and I am leaving it to you to tell me if you can. Not long ago I heard a fellow who told me that some people had remarked that they would not let their daughters go with sailors, because a sailor is too rough and cannot be trusted. Well, here is something for those who think that way.

A sailor is a man of his word and what he says he means, and I know that he can be trusted if all of the people would only trust him. When people mistrust us that way it is no wonder some of them cannot be trusted.

There it goes to show you that on account of one we are all classed alike, when three-fourths of the men in uniform are as well and better educated as the average person on the outside. I have been in the navy now for six years and have studied and studied this subject, and have never come to a conclusion that would settle it. It does not seem right for a job to be classified as where we do not belong.

Well, Jerry, I am going to see if you can figure out the problem and give me your idea on it. Now, I am not doing this for a joke, for I am very much interested in it.

GIRL WITNESS IN ARBUCKLE CASE FOUND IN SOUTH

Zey Prevost Located in New Orleans; Return for the Trial Optional.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Miss Zey Prevost, one of the star witnesses against Fatty Arbuckle, is still in New Orleans, according to a wire received by Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien. The message comes from the police authorities in the Louisiana metropolis and does not say whether or not she is wanted here and what action shall be taken. Chief O'Brien immediately communicated the news to the district attorney's office and it is likely that pressure will be made immediately to bear on the young woman to return here to testify at the third trial of the comedian, which begins March 13.

Miss Prevost and Miss Alice Blake, of Oakland, are the two chief witnesses for the state. Both were guests at the Labor Day party at the Hotel St. Francis, culminating in the death of Virginia Rappe, movie actress. Arbuckle is charged with manslaughter for alleged responsibility.

According to the law a subpoena served on Miss Prevost outside of the state of California does not force her to come here against her will. What action will be taken if she declines to obey the summons is unknown.

Babes Swapped By Fathers; Peace Reigns Supreme

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 25.—Two fathers swapped babies in the maternity ward at city hospital today and the dove of peace fluttered in to two homes where the stark had been a recent visitor.

Mrs. Bessie Verity and Mrs. Sarah Lapore were patients at the hospital at the same time. When Mrs. Verity was discharged she was given a baby boy, although she protested that hers had been a girl.

Mrs. Lapore, discharged at the same time, took home with her a newly born baby girl.

"How come?" queried the father. "They told me it was a boy."

So he bundled up the babe, took it back to the hospital and there found Papa Verity with a similar bundle. A nurse consulted her records, admitted that she had made a mistake, redistributed the babies to the proud fathers—and collapsed.

DENTAL GOLD STOLEN

A sneak thief last night stole $200 worth of dental gold from three dental offices in the Blake building at Twelfth and Washington street, according to a report to the police.

The officers which were broken into were those of Dr. T. J. Perrault, G. H. Stewart and Dr. V. P. Oralla. Entrance was gained by jimmying the doors.

ALAMEDA TRAINS TO BE SHIFTED ON MOLE TRACKS

Change Made to Bring About Equalization of Traffic on Two Lines.

In an effort to induce Alameda and Oakland passengers using the electric trains from Alameda pier to avail themselves of the most convenient train and still utilize the seating space to the best advantage, the Southern Pacific company will on next Monday rearrange the location of the Oakland Fourteenth street and Lincoln avenue trains at Alameda pier.

The re-arrangement will be made effective on the arrival of the ferryboat reaching Alameda pier at 1:35 p. m. The Lincoln avenue train will be at the left or north side of the traffic way from the boat. The Oakland Fourteenth-street train will be in the center and the Encinal train at the right as at present.

"The Encinal and Lincoln trains serve the same territories for a large portion of their runs," said J. C. McPherson, superintendent of the Southern Pacific electric lines, "but many passengers who could use the Lincoln avenue train to advantage have been using the Encinal train, which has been closer to the passage way leading to the boat."

As a result the Encinal trains have been carrying a larger proportion of the traffic during the rush hours than necessary while the Lincoln trains have been slightly loaded. With the rearrangement of the trains and the placing of the Lincoln train closer to the passage way it is hoped by the company that a more equal distribution of the traffic will be obtained.

PRIZES AWARDED AT CATTLEMEN'S ANNUAL MEETING

Eureka Man's Jerseys Win Milk Production Honors; U. of C. Pigs Sold.

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.

DAVIS, Calif., Feb. 24.—The awarding of prizes today was the center of interest for the annual convention of California cattlemen and representatives of allied activities which is in progress here.

Eurt Graham, of Compton, won the A. W. Scott silver trophy for the highest production of milk within a period of ten consecutive months. H. G. Gross, Eureka, was awarded a first prize for milk production from ten jerseys, and first and fourth prizes for the amount of milk obtained from one animal. Fred Hartsook, Los Angeles, also was included in the list of prize winners with his Holsteins.

A sale of University of California bred gilt-topped Poland China pigs was made here yesterday to G. E. Dierson of Sacramento at $125, twenty-two brood sows averaging $60.

W. P. Wing, graduate of the University of California, has been elected the paid secretary of the California Wool Growers' Association.

Among the speakers at last night's session was B. H. Rawl, who emphasized the necessity of using pure bred sires and tests of cows to eliminate "boarders." He said that a profitable dairying business was based upon the high quality of its output and that a prospering dairying community usually included prosperous banks, merchants and residents.

SALESMEN HEAR DUTIES OUTLINED

Duties of a Fuller Brush employee were outlined by the executives in session at the sales convention of the organization in the Key Route Inn today, marking the second day of the second annual conclave.

The meetings were enlivened by Fuller songs sung by the delegates, and "city songs" led by the yell leaders sent with each party of delegates. Tonight the delegates will be tendered no formal entertainment, as the program is to leave a night free. Tomorrow will be taken up with business meetings during the day and a banquet and dance in the evening.

DUBLIN, Ga., Feb. 25.—Shoe shines at pre-war prices are again an actuality here, and a great part of the local male population needs only the return of the ten-cent shave and the five-cent cigar to fill to overflowing their once almost empty bowl of happiness.

The return of the five-cent shine was brought about without the aid of Congressional action.

The method was simple. City Council decided to try on the old adage about fighting fire with fire. They passed an ordinance ordering a high license rate for bootblacks who insisted upon charging more than 5 cents for a shine. Those who charge only 5 cents may obtain licenses for $5 yearly, but bootblacks who want to charge more will have to pay $50 yearly for a license giving them that privilege.

NATIONAL PRUNE WEEK CAMPAIGN STARTS MONDAY

Famous California Product to Be Advertised Throughout Nation Next Week.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 24.—The famous California prune—"sunsweet"—variety—is to reign supreme the nation over next week. National Prune Week will be observed throughout the length and breadth of the United States from Monday morning, February 27, to Saturday night, March 4, and the California Prune and Apricot Growers' association here is standing sponsor for the success of the great week.

Eat prunes and then some more prunes! That is the cry of the association backers and the value of the "wrinkled beauties" as food will be enhanced mightily as a result of the cry.

The campaign to be conducted in the spreading of the "gospel of the prune" has been mapped out already in The TRIBUNE, detailing the extensiveness of the advertising campaign in the sixteen largest cities of the United States and Canada, while grocers, hotel men, restaurant men and thousands of others will join hands in boosting California's famous product.

Millions of pounds of prunes will be consumed during the week, it is estimated, but local leaders of industry see a more important fact than this in prune week. They predict that millions of people will have their attention focused on prunes during the week, with thousands of window displays, pages of newspaper advertisements, scores of publicity stories in the news columns of papers, all attracting attention to California prunes at one time.

"People are going to work up an appetite for prunes that it will take a long time to satisfy," H. G. Coughlin, general manager of the local association, said today. "Weeks after Prune Week has passed, people will like prunes because they ate them and liked them during National Prune Week. Scanning a menu in a restaurant months later a man will order prunes again because he enjoyed them so much in this great Prune Week. Housewives will continue to buy them and men, women and children will continue to eat them long after Prune Week is forgotten."

Alleged Leader of Auto Thieves Held

SAN JOSE, Feb. 24.—D. Bernardi, alleged by local and state authorities to be the head of an international gang of automobile thieves, was yesterday afternoon arraigned before Judge Urban A. Southerton on a charge of grand larceny growing out of his purported theft of an automobile from the Jink-Sturtevant firm, formerly of this city. His preliminary examination was set for Monday.

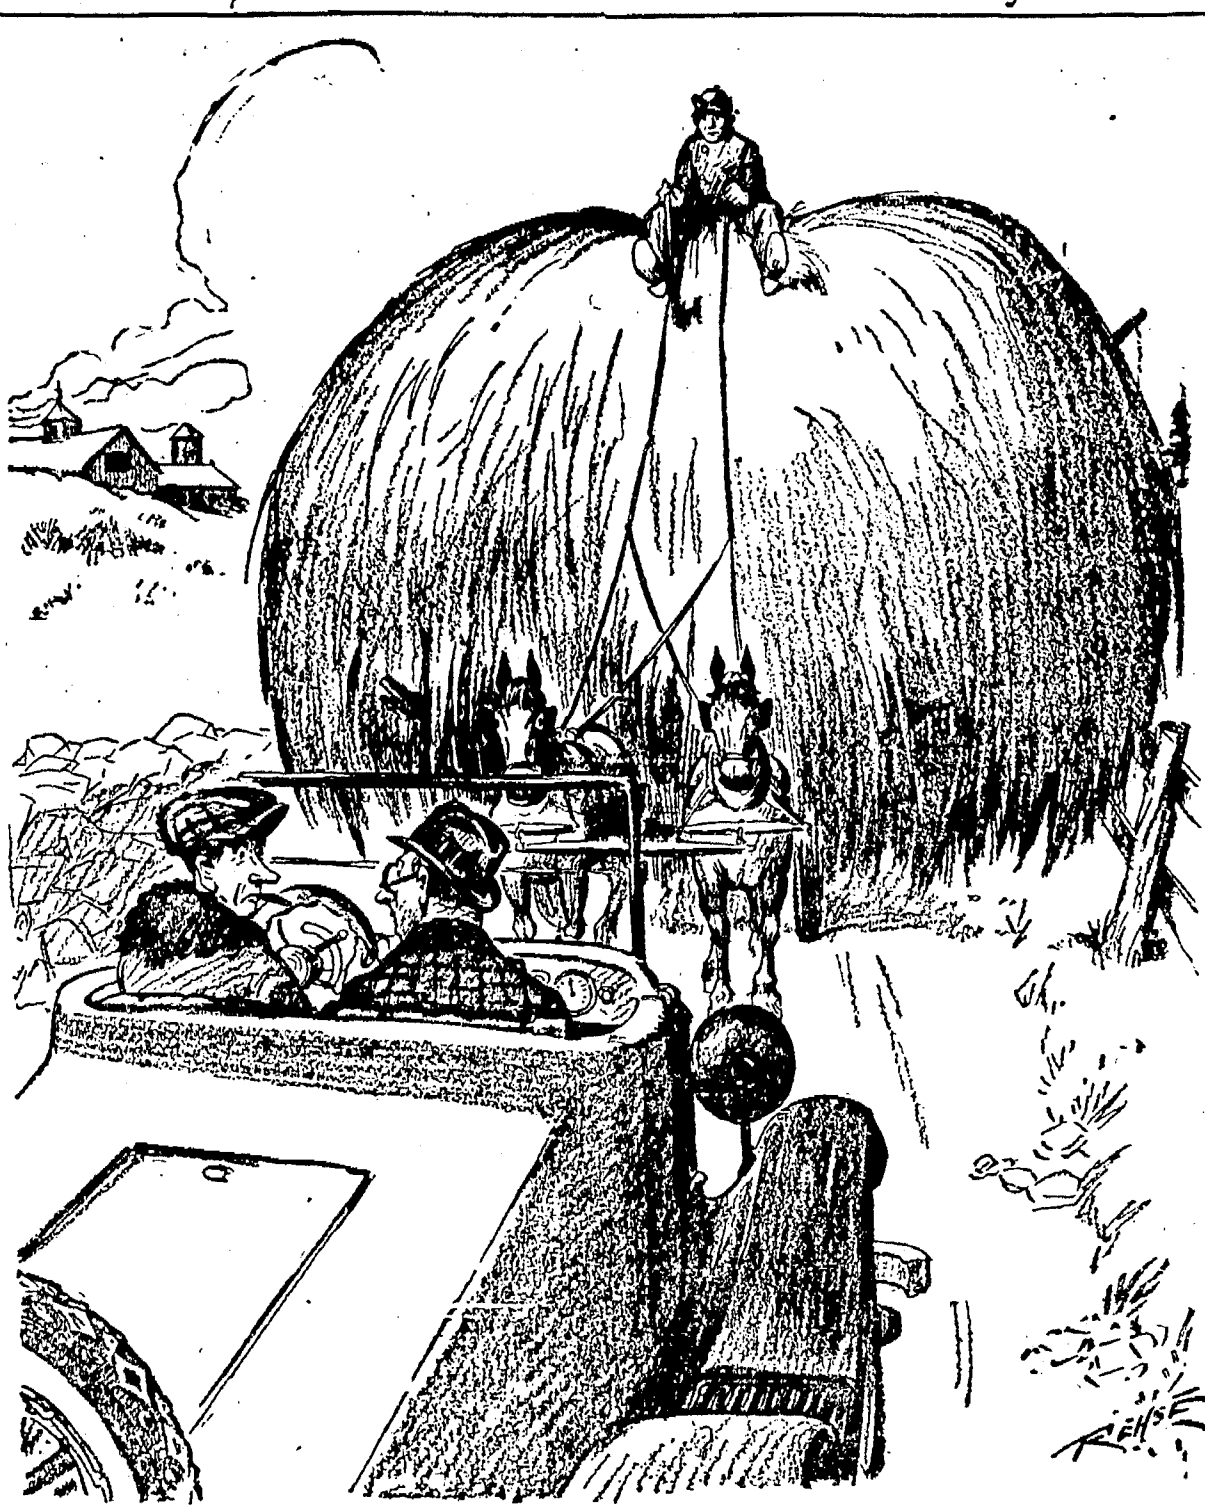

Bernardi was arrested in El Paso, Texas, and was brought to this city by Deputy Sheriff Earl Hamilton, who arrived with his prisoner late Wednesday night. It is charged that Bernardi took the stolen car to Chihuahua, Mexico, where he ordered the Jink-Sturtevant firm to build a new car for him. He is accused of having carried out similar thefts in other cities and of having received stolen cars from other men as his Mexican associate, having a commission for the cars. No date has been set for his trial, but he is said to have sold the car there. ## Students Pay Visit To Their New Home

SAN JOSE, Feb. 24.—More than 200 students of the local College of the Pacific yesterday afternoon journeyed to Stockton, the future home of the college, to take in the dedication of a monster demonstration to inaugurate the campaign for $1,500,000 for the establishment of the college there. The students made the trip in gaily decorated automobiles and the highest rendezvous with their yell and songs throughout the entire trip. The students participated in a street parade in the Slough City and last night attended a mass meeting at which the campaign was furthered. Many of the students addressed the gathering of Stocktonians and in other ways spurred on the campaign work. The leaders of the College of the Pacific, both student and faculty, expressed much satisfaction at the enthusiasm being shown in Stockton for the establishment there of the Methodist college, the oldest on the Pacific Coast.

TEACHERS' ASSN. PLANS MEETING

CENTREVILLE, Feb. 24.—The next meeting of the Washington Township Teachers' Association will be held in Newark early in March. It was announced today by Joseph Dias, principal of the Centerville grammar school, and president of the association. The program, which has not been announced yet, will be under the direction of the Newark, Lincoln, and Alviso teaching staffs. Efforts will be made to bring a well known figure in the educational world here to address the teachers.

No meeting was held this month, the last being the latter part of January when Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools, addressed the teachers and a large number of citizens. The association was organized last year to promote better fellowship between the teachers of the various schools in the township and to enable the teachers to discuss problems affecting school conditions in the county.

Washington's birthday was a holiday at the Washington township union high school here, a program appropriate to the occasion having been held Tuesday afternoon. Ralph R. Rice, a member of the faculty, delivered the principal number of the program, speaking on "The Romance of American History." F. V. Jones of Niles also addressed the students, his topic being "Better Citizenship." Singing of songs popular during the days of the world war was a feature of the program. Committees of members of Holy Ghost parish were busy today preparing for the services to mark the dedication of the new church building of the parish Sunday. Word that Archbishop Hanna would officiate at the services has added interest to the preparations for the event and local residents predicted today that the dedication would be the most elaborate ceremony ever held in Centerville.

Thirteen Hobos Get 'Floaters' Out of S. J.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 24.—Thirteen transients are on their way from the city of San Jose today with suspended sentences of 180 days in the county jail here tucked safely in their pockets. They are happy and so is the city. Police Judge Thomas R. Dougherty, acting in cooperation with the local police authorities, yesterday afternoon ordered the thirteen alleged knights of the road on their way, declaring that "the men who refuse to accept work when it is offered to them are not wanted in San Jose." He informed the transients that they would be immediately incarcerated in the county jail if any one of their number was found within the city by this morning or any time within the next year. Most of the arrested men were taken into custody in the sand house of the Southern Pacific here in a raid at an early hour yesterday morning. The same place is to be raided each night in order to rid the city of undesirables.

Brisk walking will do as much to restore health as any form of exercise.

COLLEGE COURSE IS URGED FOR ENTRY TO BAR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The national conference of bar associations today adopted resolutions recently approved by the American Bar Association, recommending that in the future two years' college training shall be required of all law school graduates before admission to the bar. The vote was practically unanimous and came after a stirring address by Elihu Root who, when strong opposition appeared mounted by the speakers' stand and the unwillingness of the American bar from the black-maller and crook who is creeping into the legal ranks under present conditions.

Narcotics Peddler Suspect Surrenders

Ona Quong, a Chinese, who, the police say, is a drug peddler, surrendered himself today in Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell's court after his appeal for a new trial had been denied by Superior Judge L. S. Church. He was arrested on May 27. He was found guilty and sentenced to 150 days in the city jail. His attorney, W. H. L. Hynes, filed a motion for a new trial, but the motion was denied. He was arrested with Mrs. Dong Wong, who is now in San Quentin.

IRRIGATION WAR TO GO TO COURTS

MODESTO, Feb. 24.—Consensus of opinion on the west side of the county, following the big meeting of irrigationists at Newman on Washington's birthday, is that what was supposed to be a peace meeting in reality was the beginning of unlimited warfare against Miller & Lux. Miller & Lux had been expected at the meeting, but stayed away, convincing other interested parties that this big concern is not willing to consider any other proposal than its own.

As a result of the meeting, a permanent organization has been effected of all the interests on the San Joaquin river, with the one exception noted. An invitation will be sent Miller & Lux to come into this organization, but it is declared to be a foregone conclusion that this big corporation will stay out. In this case the organization is expected to present a united front against the Miller & Lux irrigation district plan, with the result a big legal battle.

PALO ALTO MAN HURT IN SMASH

SAN JOSE, Feb. 24.—Henry A. Malloy of 649 University avenue, Palo Alto, was seriously injured shortly before midnight last night when a motorcycle on which he was riding struck a brick in the State highway north of Santa Clara, causing him to be thrown with violence against a telephone pole. Malloy was picked up in a semi-conscious condition by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wyllie of Santa Clara, returning to their home from San Francisco, and rushed to a local hospital where he received first aid. An examination of the young man's injuries revealed him to be suffering from several broken ribs, an injured spine and a broken wrist. Physicians declared they did not believe Malloy's injuries would necessarily result fatally. He had regained consciousness shortly after being treated at the hospital. Malloy had been in this city on business and was returning to Palo Alto at the time of the accident.

The young man struck the gun aside as it was discharged, tearing away part of this father's cheek. The elder Clayton was taken to the Mission emergency hospital for treatment and observation. The injured man had been in ill health for some time.

WELL TAPS HUGE SUBSURFACE LAKE NEAR IRVINGTON

Irrigation May Follow Discovery Made When Reid Bros. Sink for Water.

IRVINGTON, Feb. 24.—Belief that the discovery of an apparently inexhaustible underground supply of water here may lead to the development of irrigation of the Irvington territory was expressed today by Thomas Tierney, president of the Irvington Chamber of Commerce.

The discovery of the water supply was made when the Reid Brothers, Inc., property, was started to work several days ago. A total of 432,000 gallons of water in 12 hours' day has been pumped from the well for the past week without lowering the water level, and well experts say that indications are that a heretofore untapped water stratum has been found.

The possibilities uncovered by the discovery of the water stratum are many, the principal one being the development of Irvington into a valley noted for fruit production, local agriculturists say. It is pointed out that by sinking wells and irrigating the land here that orchards of apricots, peaches and pines could be made highly profitable.

"The use of irrigation here would place us on a basis similar to that of Santa Clara valley. Experts have agreed that Irvington has an ideal climate and has excellent land for orchard purposes if the water supply could be found. We have found it and now we will begin to utilize the discovery to make Irvington an orchard center," Tierney said today. The combination of a rich orchard country with the fact that Irvington bids fair to become the industrial center of lower Alameda county would make Irvington one of the richest communities in the country, it is believed.

MOUNTAIN LION CAUSES A NEAR-PANIC IN HOTEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Guests at the Fairmont hotel here were thrown into a near-panic when W. A. Magee, Oakland real estate dealer, attempted to take a mountain lion into the hotel. The lion is the property of J. C. Bruce, California State lion hunter, attached to the State Fish and Game Commission. Bruce caught the lion in Northern California when it was but four weeks old and has raised it on milk. Recently he left his pet with Magee, who decided to take it to San Francisco and show it to Mrs. Edith Webster, a guest at the Fairmont hotel. Magee was notified to take the animal away.

Eastbay Masons, Friends Will See Stirring Drama

MRS. WALTER E. JANKE, who has an important part in "When Thrones Trembled."

Square and Compass Players to Present "When Thrones Trembled" Saturday Night

The families and friends of Masons in the Eastbay cities will have an opportunity to see the Square and Compass players of San Francisco tomorrow evening in Oakland auditorium theater, when this company makes its second Oakland appearance in Jesse M. White's Masonic play, "When Thrones Trembled." The first appearance of this company was Tuesday evening, when the play "An Eighteenth Century Lodge" was given before an audience of Master Masons only.

"When Thrones Trembled" is a thrilling melodrama of France during the period of the French Revolution. The first act takes place before and during a meeting of the "Lodge of the Nine Muses," where Voltaire and Benjamin Franklin met. The second act shows the tribunal of the reign of terror, with the mob condemning and executing the aristocrats. Here as throughout the play the workings of Masonry are shown. Serving upon the tribunal a servant saves his master's wife from the guillotine. The action throughout the play is vivid and colorful.

The Square and Compass players will be assisted in this production by a number of prominent transbay society matrons in the cast. Mrs. Walter E. Janke appears as Princess Marie Seard. Members of the University of California student body will also assist in the production, seventy-five of them appearing in the mob scene. Proceeds from the play will be divided between the Masonic homes of California and the Shriners' convalescent fund. Tickets may be procured at all Blue lodges in the Eastbay cities and exchanged for reserved seats at Ahmies Temple headquarters, Twelfth and Harrison streets, Oakland. Tickets will also be on sale at Auditorium theater box office tomorrow evening.

NO STEEL BOX.

The request of the Senate, arising from the efforts of a few obstructionists in that body, upon the President for complete information regarding the proceedings of the Washington conference on disarmament directs attention to the fact that never before has there been made so comprehensive and successful an effort to give the public all information concerning an official international conference. That the Senate should feel that it really lacks important data regarding any of the proceedings related to the treaties now before it is one of the astonishing features of the conference.

In all the committee meetings of the conference, that is, in the sections charged with the consideration of special subjects, such as the naval program and the Pacific treaties, the most exact and fulsome record of speeches and colloquies were kept. These were immediately given to the public in the form of communiques. They were handed to the newspaper representatives, and while excerpts were published generally, available space prevented the complete publication of these communiques in all but two or three full papers. They often demanded from two to four full pages.

In addition, when the President sent the several treaties to the Senate he accompanied them with a voluminous annex containing official copies of these communiques, as well as of all minutes that had been kept and all communications and memoranda submitted by the various delegations. Congress now possesses the full record. It is empowered to publish it as a special document, which it probably will do, and thus give further free circulation to all the information available regarding this conference.

This situation is notably unlike that which followed the return of Mr. Wilson from the Versailles treaty conference and the submission of the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations covenant to the Senate. Nothing has been withheld for "diplomatic reasons." There are no secret steel boxes, whose contents may be turned over to a publishing house for the special and peculiar profit of a Ray Stannard Baker and a former President.

It would seem that the country, and in particular the Senate, should be duly appreciative of the different manner in which President Harding has proceeded. He has informed the country frankly, promptly and fully of all that has transpired and has reserved nothing for political advantage or personal profit.

NOW BUILD IT.

University of California seems to be encountering greatest difficulty in connection with the building of its stadium from the people of Berkeley, the University's home. When it sought additional ground to build the stadium on a site adjoining the campus property owners protested first and then insisted on almost prohibitive prices for the desired land. Obstruction in numerous other forms was encountered.

Now the stadium committee has selected a site in "Strawberry Canyon," a small distance from the campus, and a howl of protests arises from nearby property owners; the project is going to injure nearby property values and do a lot of other undesirable things! Rarely has any million-dollar construction project encountered so much opposition from "home people" as this proposed stadium.

But Berkeleyans in general will be greatly pleased to learn that the choice of a site is definite and work on the new stadium will begin immediately. There has been a lot of delay already. The financing of the project has been performed in a satisfactory and adequate manner, most of the necessary funds being assured from outside of Berkeley. The stadium should be completed and ready for use before the next football season opens.

The world was somewhat impressed a few days ago when it learned that the Sultan of Turkey, until lately the recognized spiritual and temporal ruler of Islam, had sent a message of congratulation to the newly-elected Pope at Rome. Now we hear that for the first time in 1000 years the chief ecclesiastic of the Greek Orthodox Church at Constantinople has acknowledged a representative of the Roman Catholic Church. Everywhere there is a notable and gratifying absence of former difficulties of social relation which had their root in differences of religious belief and dogmatic pronouncements.

IS THIS BORING FROM WITHIN?

Kansas has had a deal of trouble during the last three years with its coal miners. Much of the disturbance harks back to the protest of Alexander Howatt, a miners' union official, and his followers against the Industrial Relations Court, which was established with the object of preventing strikes in essential industries.

As to the merits of this new court law and the instrument it created, it is not possible yet to pass a final and conclusive judgment. All States have been watching its operation with deep interest, because it aims at the removal of a problem common to all. The object is undeniably worthwhile. It remains to be seen whether the loss and trouble in attaining the object will be too great.

But, as in nearly all efforts of this nature, there is certain to be mistaken ideas, a grasping of individuals to seize power and to establish practices never intended. In Kansas such efforts may kill entirely the work Governor Allen started and has supported so vigorously. Read the following. It is from a draft of an ordinance which the Attorney General recently sent to every city in the districts affected by the coal strike, with demand that it be enacted into municipal law.

"Any person . . . who, being without visible means of support, shall refuse to work when work at fair wages is to be procured in the community . . . shall be deemed a vagrant, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the city jail for a period of not less than ten days or more than 30 days for each offense, and shall be compelled to work at hard labor until sentence is fully complied with."

Of course this has provoked comment everywhere. There is a grave question as to whether the Attorney General has not struck the Industrial Relations Court a very harmful, if not fatal, blow. The New York Independent and Weekly Review sizes the question correctly when it says that it is idle to blink the fact that such a requirement as this proposed law would involve contains the essence of slavery. And:

"Nothing about the Soviet despotism in Russia has been more conclusive to its character than has its wholesale resort to compulsory labor. This plan of the Kansas Attorney General may be practically of very limited scope in comparison with the Leninist procedure; but in essence it is indistinguishable from it."

Replying to specific inquiries as to what he meant, the Kansas Attorney General held that a man may have a comfortable home, plenty of money and credit with which to maintain himself, and not be in any way a nuisance or undesirable resident of a community, and still under his law be charged with vagrancy. His proposed law contemplates that every able-bodied man work if work is obtainable in his community.

Of course the mind of this Kansas law official is limited in its capacity. That is plain. Otherwise he would know that, entirely aside from any viewpoint the citizens of Kansas may entertain regarding the duty to work, whether or not they can afford idleness, these same citizens will not submit to the jurisdiction of a slave act, or a compulsory labor act. They will submit neither to soviet oppression from government nor to soviet destruction and terrorism from the Howatt miners.

The first session of the International Court of Justice was held last week at The Hague and the event is hailed by many persons throughout the world a new milestone in the evolutionary movement toward universal peace. It seems specially fitting that this international tribunal of justice should have convened in the country and near a bust of Hugo Grotius, the founder of international law in the early part of the seventeenth century. Members of the court represent twelve nationalities of the Western and Eastern Hemispheres. It will undertake to clear up disputed points of international law and inevitably must create new laws as necessity requires. If the League of Nations is destined to fail in every other particular it is to be hoped that this international tribunal will survive vigorously.

DAMAGE TO THE LOCOMOTIVE.

Railroads have paid many a claim for damage to motor vehicles at crossings. A recent damage suit in Cleveland took a reverse twist, and thereby the New York Central Railroad won $231.25 for damages sustained to one of its locomotives. This locomotive had crashed to a six-foot wreck at Wickliffe, Ohio. The driver of the truck, as the railroad contended, had not taken proper precautions, but had allowed his truck to come to a standstill at the tracks.

Trucks have grown to such monstrous proportions that they meet locomotives almost on equal terms, whether in business or in physical encounter. When a loaded one pauses on a track the collision is likely to be serious for the train.
Several years ago the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in a somewhat similar case ruled that because of the ease of control of motor vehicles the law should exact from their drivers a strict performance of their duty in observing the three rules of safety—stop, look and listen—and there are indications that other courts may turn to this precedent in deciding upon the railroad's case. These have consequently come to take considerable precautions lest they lose heavy damages suits. The growth of the automobile truck lines has raised up a rival for the growing right of way. Though the thought may have its novelty, still a railway company can be the damaged as well as the damager in collisions.

DAILY ALMANAC

Friday, February 24.

In 1717 places in the East reported twenty feet of snow. . . . All records were broken and the year went down in story as one to brag about. . . . Deerfield, Mass., was attacked by Indians in 1779. . . . In 1813 the Hornet and the Peacock had a battle. . . . George William Curtis, author of "Easy Chair Papers," was born in 1824. . . . They appeared in the old Harper's. . . . John Habberton, writer of "Helen's Babies," was born in 1842.

News that the fleet of wooden ships, moored off the Bethlehem plant on the estuary, has been purchased is the sole subject for debate these days in the Nautical club. There is Captain Doogan, for instance, who has long harbored the desire to buy one of the vessels that he might sail, with a cook and a stoker, to the South Seas. The captain says that he has waited for a further drop in prices and that he is chagrined and hurt to think some fellow, with no romance in his soul, has bought the ships right from, as you might say, under his nose. Another gentleman, who reports discomfiture at the turn things have taken is the one who has been watchman in one of the hulls. He says it was a fine place for a poker game and that his job beat paying rent all hollow.

The practical Bill Bones had figured it out that he would buy the whole fleet, wire them for lights and disappearing sideboards, and rent furnished apartments to the home-seekers. "A little combination of privateering and profiteering" was the way he explained it, and he has it down in figures that he has lost $300,000 with the sale of the ships. It is worth anyone's while to go down to the estuary and look at this fleet before it is sent into the lumber trade, for its like will never be seen again. Each vessel, looming empty and high, looks like a Noah's ark, and one expects to see the wooden animals walk down the gang-plank and look about for a conventional pine and stiff-armed Noah.

As for ourselves, we had hopes to charter the entire fleet and give the Almanac a picnic excursion to Tahiti, but the scheme is off.

Men who used to "let George do it" now talk about bond issues.

Extra, Extra.

This hurried call of the Nature Club is being sent out following the discovery, by a son sister of science, of a gigantic flea which has been terrifying Oakland folks, almost into convulsions.

"The flea is described by an Oakland paper: "Street, according to his story, threw back the covers and saw the huge flea with its incisors imbedded in the ankle of his wife. Street said it was the most vicious looking creature he had ever seen. "The flea fixed upon Street the baleful glare of a basilisk and, in the moment of horror-stricken inhibition which prevented him from swatting the huge insect, the flea made good its escape with one gigantic leap. It disappeared in the darkness."

Now, the question arises, what are we going to do with a flea like that loose on the community? Who wants any baleful eyes of basilisks fastened upon him unawares? The Nature Club ought to leave no covers unturned to find that flea and to bring its gigantic body, stuffed and mounted, as a trophy to be shown in the City Hall plaza. In the meantime there have been queer happenings all about. We do not say it is the flea and we do not deny it. We only point to the record.

Meteor Almost Discovered.
"INOLE, Feb. 24.—James E. Jabbers, farmer, reported last night a large meteor landed emphatically in his spinach vines. He aroused his family, and arming himself against surprise, ran outside where the meteor was resting. Imagine his consternation when the meteor hopped over his barn, landed in a neighbor's cornfield, and then cleared a eucalyptus row and disappeared. Jabbers says he isn't so sure that this was a meteor—it might have been a flea or a lighter than air turkey. Search of his premises showed no trace of home brew.

Then There Is This.

DELHI, Feb. 24.—Col. Arthur Mometer, local cabbage king, reports an astounding experience last night. He says that when he retired his cabbage field was as smooth as the traditional billiard table. Imagine his feeling when he looked out of a window in the moonlight to see full-grown cabbages resting in conventional design on the surface of the patch. Giving three rousing cheers Col. Mometer awakened his family and prepared to harvest the miraculous crop. The weird part of this, the inexplicable element is, that when Col. Mometer set foot in his cabbage patch the cabbages, giving manic hops, leaped the fence and made away, bumping sonorously on the frosty ground. He doesn't know what to think about it.

The reader is at liberty to put two and two together. The situation is serious and we are taking no responsibility. The club feels, however, that no information should be withheld, and that the crisis should be approached calmly and that in the end victory will attend our efforts. There are other things which may not have a hearing. The stack on the S. P. Cannonball became plugged near Fresno, causing the boilers to swell to prodigious size and threatening, for a moment, an explosion. With a roar which could be heard for miles, the pent-up force in the engine dislodged the plug and shot for several miles in the air a dark object which had evidently fallen from the skies to cause this havoc. The engineer says the object screamed and bared its incisors as it whizzed upwards. A night-going autoist reports he was halted on the highway by a strange light and that when he investigated the light disappeared. He says it might have been a basilisk, but he doesn't know what a basilisk is.

NOTES and COMMENT

With the latest Chicago "financial wizard" in mind the Daily News of that city says: "Blue sky is excellent, but over-credulous citizens should not be allowed to spend their good money for it."

In view of a similar argument nearby the following from the Kansas City Times is pertinent: "The fight on Darwinism, led by a Kentucky legislator, is waning. In other words, the fittest survive."

For lingering sweetness long drawn out this, from the Paris, Kansas, Mercury is worthy of consideration: "The biggest sugar camp in the history of Monroe county and probably in this section of the State is now in operation on the O. B. Vaughn farm near Vion. There are 2,600 trees in the grove and 500 will be tapped, over 250 having already been. It is expected that five hundred gallons will be in the crop."

California seems to have had a hand in an Oregon situation. The Oregonian says: "Due to agitation by American Legion posts, the Japanese potato king of California has placed on sale all his lands in Deschutes and Crook counties. That is the peaceful and better way of settling an issue. Now white men are needed to grow potatoes, for that is one great spot in Oregon that produces the best tubers."

This from the Kansas City Star is intended to be consoling: "Nearly all the popular playgrounds seem to have their drawbacks. Southern California has its blizzards, and Florida

The fat peeresses of England are in trouble. Sixteen inches of seating space in Westminster Abbey is all that is allowed per person at the wedding of Princess Mary. Try sixteen inches and you will need no diagram to understand the sorrows of the fat peeresses. They have applied to the lord chamberlain for a few inches more apiece, and he, with a hard heart, has turned them down. Probably he is thin.

The ladies are going to send a personal appeal to the royal bride. All American ladies whose seating requirements are over the sixteen-inch limit will view the result with heartfelt, perhaps even with prayerful, sympathy.—Stockton Independent.

The retiring governor of West Virginia is asking for a constitutional amendment in his state which would bar from public office those whom the executive designates as "politically dry, but personally wet." He would require every official to make oath that he had not and would not violate the Eighteenth Amendment. If an official could support the Constitution of his country down to the last syllable he should not be considered competent for public service. Gov. Davis has no patience with legislators who vote laws to enforce the amendment and then indulge in the secret practice of home coming.—Fresno Republican.

A Pennsylvania college instructor says most of our social ills are directly the fault of Helen of Troy and Cleopatra and other famous vamps of history, and his idea for saving civilization is to bar all information about vamps from students' histories. The fact that most of the vamps of history, from Delilah down to Nan Patterson, have paid for their enterprises in misery and woe is a lesson that seems wholly

This is life: a bit of fretting. Darkening the day. Sometimes losing, sometimes getting. Thus we go our way. And the guides by which men find us. Are the joys we leave behind us.

This is life: a time for sorrow. Dread and fear and doubt. Faith, from which all men may borrow. Strength to brave it out. But the greatest of our glory. Shines throughout another's story.

about YOUR HEALTH

Chewing Your Food Well Is Better Than Eating Much.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

Saturday I said that personal hygiene is a debt you owe society. You have not done your full hygienic duty to yourself and to others simply because you bathe regularly and brush your teeth several times a day.

Naturally, we think of water whenever we talk about hygiene. As a matter of fact, the state of civilization may be determined by the per-capita use of water. When water is measured in terms of pints, instead of gallons or barrels I am suspicious of the real cleanliness of the people.

Universal and daily bathing of the entire body is a modern practice. Visit the ancient castles and medieval palaces of Europe and you will be shocked by the absence or by the crudity and inconvenience of the bathing arrangements.

Immediately somebody will say that the people of those periods were healthy and lived just as long as we do. In the first place, they did not live as long as the average man does now. The expectation of life is much greater today than it was in olden times.

They did have an advantage over us in one respect. Their food was much simpler. There were glutons in high places, but in the common walks of life the fare was plain and wholesome.

The simpler lives and coarser foods gave them better teeth. Our denatured and soft dishes have caused suffering to teeth, which demand stern usage. Teeth are like saws. They sicken and die if denied the rough existence they were created to endure.

Heart disease is one of the few conditions causing an increased death rate in modern times. With-out question many cases of heart disease can be traced back to diseased teeth. Rheumatism is a great factor in producing heart disease, and, in its turn, dental trouble is responsible for much rheumatism.

Food should be chosen because, among other reasons, they contain the essential minerals. If you take this dish or that simply because "it looks so good," you probably rob your system of needed sustenance. Too frequently attractive-looking food is low on looks and short on food values.

The modern baker is an artist. Too many of them are merely artistic. It is desirable to have food daintily and tastily prepared, and not messy and vulgar. But if it is bleached with chemicals and painted with doubtful coloring matter, it is time to call a halt.

You must learn the importance of a well-balanced ration of properly cooked food. If you must choose between overeating and under eating, accept the latter at once. To leave the table with an unsatisfied appetite is pretty good practice, especially if it has been a hastily eaten meal.

Mid-day lunch is a meal which should be selected with particular care, because, if wrongly chosen, it is more harmful than going without food. Eat sparingly if your time is short, because a little food well masticated is infinitely better than a lot of stuff catapulted into the stomach.

Your use of water and food determines your state of health.

Public School Instructors to Old Machines Run.

Planning some relief for the poor teachers of Oakland, who bought aged automobiles on their meager salaries and are now growing gray hair because of it, the school department bulletin today announced the opening of a teachers' auto class on March 1.

The class is no joke. It is a life-saver, according to some of the educators. It means, say the teachers, that they have some chance for studying the peculiarities of machines which seem to be equipped with self-stoppers.

"Teachers," say the high educational officials, "need machines. In their work, but they naturally cannot afford the newest and costliest type of cars, and so naturally they are having trouble. One bought a big machine yesterday of antique design. Naturally these teachers welcome a school where they can learn a few things about their machines. In some of these old cars there is much to learn."

The class will be conducted by Van A. Neher of Prescott school, who is taking reservations for his classes.

SCHOOL ROW TO BE AIRED AT MEETING

Reorganization Plan for the Board of Education Will Be Discussed at Mass Meeting
Tomorrow Night in "Y"

Under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' association a mass meeting will be held at the Y. W. C. A. tomorrow night to hear discussions on the reorganization plan of the board of education.

The meeting was the outcome of the request by Harry Boyle, president of the board, for a warrant for the arrest of Norman Metcalf, president of the Progressive Business Men's club, on a charge of slander. Plans to arrest Metcalf were abandoned yesterday after a lengthy conference in the office of Prosecuting Attorney William Hennessey. Metcalf intimated that a grand jury investigation would follow, according to Hennessey.

GRAND JURY MAY ACT.
District Attorney Ezra Decoto said this morning that his action in regard to the grand jury would depend on the evidence submitted to him.

"If the evidence submitted to me warrants an investigation into school board affairs by the grand jury," said Decoto, "I will take it up with the investigating board. I am not going to the mass meeting tomorrow night because I have another engagement."

The application for the slander warrant for Metcalf was the outcome of a speech delivered by him at the United Commercial Travelers' club luncheon in this city in which he told of his investigations on the activities of the school board.

DENIES ALLEGATIONS.
At the conference yesterday he was asked to repeat his charges, according to Hennessey, and said that he had not called the school board members "crooks and thieves." Members of the "Travelers' club" who heard the talk contended that he did, according to Hennessey.

Following the conference in the prosecutor's office Metcalf presided at a meeting of his club and urged attendance at the mass meeting which will be addressed by Mrs. Georgia Ormsby, who introduced the reorganization scheme to the school board and other educators who are opposed to it.

CHICKEN HOUSE BURNED.

Employees of City's Industrial Plants Will Take Part in Program

Plans for the great sports carnival and dance to be given by the Industrial Athletic Association of Greater Oakland in the municipal auditorium on the night of March 19 for the benefit of the unemployed, are nearing completion today. Officials of the Oakland Recreation department, under whose direction the affair will be held, are predicting that it will be one of the most successful events ever conducted here.

The object of the carnival, officials say, is to bring all the industrial plants together in one grand affair and "let the people know what each plant is doing in recreation activities."

Employees of all of the city's industrial plants are making plans to take part in the event. The program will be divided into four parts, and the admission fee will be used to bring relief to the families in Oakland suffering from unemployment.

The program will include an "ad parade," stunts, including boxing, wrestling and folk dances; athletic demonstrations with trophies for the winners, including a one-mile relay race, and dancing from 10 to 12 o'clock.

A committee, headed by Jay Nash of the recreation department, is completing the arrangements for the carnival. The committee in charge of the entries to the event are passing on numerous candidates.

City's Unemployed to Be Given Road Work
ALAMEDA, Feb. 24.—The unemployed of Alameda will probably be put to work upon grading and cleaning up the Landsberger and Baum estate properties, just as soon as the city can obtain control of them for park purposes. This was the announcement made by C. E. Hickok, city manager, today.

The purchase of the two pieces of land for park purposes is being held up owing to the Baum estate matter being settled now in the probable court.

The city has not as yet decided upon a name for the new park. It was first proposed to call it Memorial park and make it a monument to the men of Alameda who died in the service. Alameda, post of the American Legion objected, stating that the service men would rather see a memorial to them take the form of a new high school.

Ousted Instructor

Hack's place on the faculty has not been restored to him by college authorities, his status being merely that of a student.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 24.—Roy Barrett of Petaluma, former chaplain with the American expeditionary forces in Europe, is attracting throngs of people to the services which are being held this week in the first Baptist church, Stanton street and Santa Clara avenue. This evening the program will be particularly for the young people. No meeting will be held tomorrow as it is intended to put forth every effort on Sunday. The Rev. A. P. Brown is presiding at the meetings.

CELLAR MEAT MARKETS TO BE ABOLISHED

Ordinance Framed at Request of Food Inspector Passed to Print: Protest Against Holman Road Extension

At the request of the city food inspector, an ordinance prohibiting the sale of meat in any shop or cellar below the street level was passed to print by the city council today.

The ordinance, as explained by City Attorney Leon E. Gray, is the result of investigations by food inspectors, who have alleged that such shops are likely to be damp and dark, making proper inspection almost impossible, even under the best of circumstances. It is admitted that only a very few markets will be affected.

A big protest against the extension of Holman Road from Bates Road to Greenwood avenue was received by the council and, at the suggestion of Commissioner Baccus, a hearing was set for March 16.

The council directed the city attorney to confer with the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway with regard to changes of property and street ownership in the proposed replotting of the Fourteenth avenue car line. This affects only minor properties such as curbs and gutters.

The ordinance appropriating $550 for electrical department supplies was given final passage.

$500 THEFT REPORTED.
Jewelry valued at $500 was reported stolen to the police from the home of H. H. Hanson, 6424 San Pablo avenue. The home was entered through a rear window early last night while the family was out.

Black for Million Minstrel Shows Available and Free

Does anyone want a few tons of lamp-black, enough to equip about 10,000,000 minstrel shows? If so, let the applicant visit the street department. He can have it, and welcome.

The vast deposit of lamp-black was found at Second and Washington streets, where the Pacific Gas & Electric company has been excavating. Immediately a coterie of workmen, each black as coal from digging into the stuff, approached Commissioner W. J. Baccus for permission to cart the stuff to the public dump.

"No," replied Baccus. "We can't have that stuff carted through the streets and we can't have it on the dump, flowing all over town."

"But what shall we do?" asked the applicant. "It can't stay there."

"Who's to say?"

"I don't care who says it," said Baccus, ending the talk.

But meantime something has to be done about that lamp-black and street department officials are considering a "black" order to the quarry, Jackson street dump, stain the streets and spoil the hills, but something has to be done about it.

My Favorite Stories

by IRVIN S. COBB

Tuesday Would Be Just Like Sunday.

On the occasion of a local election in a small Tennessee town an old colored man was the only member of his race who voted the Democratic ticket. It was felt that this devotion to the cause of the Caucasian—as it prevailed in that vicinity—was deserving of recognition and a substantial reward. Accordingly the incoming administration promptly created a department of street cleaning—something of which the municipality had never seriously felt the need before. This department was to consist of two members, namely, a foreman or superintendent and a staff of one. Naturally, to a white man went the job of foreman, but upon the worthy old black man was conferred the honor of being the staff.

Now he had the idea, which is not uncommon among other political appointees, that holding a public office meant regular wages and considerable glory and no appreciable amount of manual exertion. Nevertheless on the Monday morning when he reported for duty, as a concession to the conventionalities, he did bring a shovel along with him.

But the white man who had been selected as superintendent had a very different idea of the obligations which he owed the municipality. He might not work much himself, but he was determined that the force under him should not be idle. No sooner had the old negro shoveled up one of the accumulated piles of vintage rubbish of the years from the public thoroughfare than the vigilant eye of the boss spied out at least half a dozen more similar mounds which to his way of thinking seemed to require immediate attention.

As a consequence it was 4 o'clock in the afternoon before the surprised and chagrined and pained old man had time to blow on the plump new-formed blisters in the palm of his hands or to rub the cricks out of his back. Finally in a merciful lull in the operations he straightened his spine with an almost audible creak, and as he wrung the dew of unwanted toil from his forehead, he inquired of his superior: "Look here, mister, ain't you got nothin' to do 'ceptin' jes' to think up things fur me to do?"

"Yep," said the white man briskly, "that's all my job—just to keep you busy."

"Well, suh," said the old man softly, "in dat case you'll prob'ly be pleased to know dat you ain't goin' be workin' tomorrer."

TYRANNY.

WITH DICK DARE, RALPH MUSENER AND A GREAT CAST

FOREWORD
ACCORDING TO HISTORIANS, IT WAS A PERIOD OF INTENSE UNREST. THE POOR WERE OPPRESSED AND DOWN TRODDEN, WHILE THE ARISTOCRATS, LOLLING IN THE LAP OF LUXURY, LAUGHED AT THEIR MISFORTUNE. TYRANNY WAS KING, BUT THE DARK CLOUDS OF REVOLT WERE FAST GATHERING ON THE DISTANT HORIZON.

YOU KNOW DARN WELL MONSIEUR, IT AIN'T RIGHT TO TAKE AWAY OUR WINE!

I SHALL SPEAK TO MY UNCLE AND SEE WHAT I CAN DO FOR YOU, GOOD PEOPLE.

ARMAND'S UNCLE, THE REIGNING KING, WHO HAS CONFISCATED ALL WINES, LIQUORS & CIGARS FOR THE USE OF THE ARISTOCRACY.

MR. RALPH MUSENER

YOUR MAJESTY, THE PEOPLE REBEL. THEY WANT THEIR WINE.

SEEING THAT HIS EFFORTS IN THE PEOPLE'S BEHALF ARE UNAVAILING, CHARTREUSE DECIDES TO TRY TO HELP THEM HIMSELF.

Man: A small particle of intelligence entirely surrounded by habits.

Most of the time-killing is done by seconds. First-class men don't loaf.

Age thinks it has acquired will power when it has merely lost its appetite.

"It is Mr. Kalomil's dream to elevate the masses." Probably means salivate.

We can't expect to hold a winning hand in air competition if we discard our aces.

It frequently happens that when a man takes unto himself a mate he gets a checkmate.

Few people can stand prosperity, and when a man gets a flivver he usually shakes his old friends.

"Universal peace is a state of mind." Ably assisted, however, by a state of bankruptcy.

The first in war, first in peace and first in hearts of our countrymen is a profit.

A cartoonist shows a radical sowing discontent and labels it "The Sower." Why not "The Sore?"

Cheer up. The thermometer has its ups and downs, but it keeps pegging away on the same line.

"Pressure" may bring a nation to terms, but those who are bound against their will soon rebound.

When a man loses anything else, he advertises for it. But when he loses his head, he stops advertising.

In the old days a man was crowned by divine right, now it is more frequently done with a dangerous left.

"What does a blush show?" asks a beauty specialist. We can't answer, off-hand, but it seldom shows through.

The Senate still concedes, however, that the people can select a President without its advice and consent.

There is some evidence, however, that statesmen who hold the steering wheel have seen the sign: "Turn to the right."

An automobile license gives you a number, but a marriage license only proves that some woman has got your number.

Another little trouble with the times is that normalcy has been confused in the popular mind with the millennium.

The nations should trust in God, of course, but they won't get far on the way to peace until they begin to trust one another.

A casual study of the loungers in hotel lobbies convinces us that man will never invent a graceful way to spit on the floor.

The only way we can understand the wickedness of some nations is on the theory that environment makes character.

People might try as hard to be good as to make good if achievement would not them the same space on the front page.

As we look over the situation, the thought comes to us that the old world may be trying to hang up an endurance record.

And yet the hard-boiled cynic who thinks it impossible to make the world better things he can grow vegetables like those on the cover of the seed catalog.

John Barleycorn's reign continued a long time, and it is natural that the low-down places should remain wet for a considerable period.

IMPEACHMENT OF LANDIS, HOPE OF OHIO DEMOCRAT

Former Member of House Asks That Resignation Be Refused.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Benjamin F. Witly, former Democratic member of the House from the Fourth Ohio district, made public today another letter to President Harding urging that the resignation of Federal Judge Landis now before the President be not accepted.

The former Ohio representative, who as a member of the last Congress sought to have Judge Landis impeached after he had accepted the baseball arbitratorship, also made public a letter to Chairman Volstead of the

PARENTS PRAY THAT DEATH MAY CHEAT HANGMAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Harvey W. Church, condemned slayer of two automobile salesmen, continued today to show no signs of emotion when reference was made to his hanging, now set for March 3, but his aged parents said: "We pray every night and morning that Harvey will die before then."

A bulletin, issued by the jail physician, said Church's condition is good, and the forcible feeding of the prisoner was continued. For breakfast he was given chocolate syrup, a pint and a half of malted milk and two eggs.

House judiciary committee in which he quoted the chairman as saying that the impeachment proceedings were still pending and as promising to call up the matter as soon as urgent legislation was out of the way.

There is no doubt that the impeachment proceeding against Judge Landis are still pending in Congress, Mr. Witly wrote in his letter to the President, "and I felt in justice to Judge Landis as well as to the public that the matter should be disposed of by Congress. Judge Landis is either innocent or guilty."

Youth Elopes With Stepmother; Kept Out

ST. JOHN, N. B., Feb. 24.—Frederic Brooks, 20 years old, who eloped with his stepmother from Bangor, Maine, to McAdam, N. B., has brought his bride to St. John. She is more than twice his age. After the elopement they tried to return to Bangor, but were refused admission to the United States by the immigration authorities. The bride had been divorced from her present husband's father.

STARLIGHT

Virginia Fairfax, an orphan, rebellious daughter of one of the first families of Virginia, tells her story. A tale of the olden times, of the conventions of their little town and the tyranny of her grandfather, who adopted the name of her parents. Virginia confides to Naomi that she intends to run away from home to the "transient sale" of her grandfather and her sympathetic aunt. Virginia fled in the night after learning that her real family name was Virginia Winston. At the station Virginia's plans.

A REVELATION.

Mrs. Watkins (I had learned her name through our conversation and that she came from Philadelphia) looked at me speculatively, as though she were almost wondering if I were telling the truth.

At last she said: "I was sure that you belonged to Theodore Stratton's company and was going to Los Angeles with him for his next picture."

"Theodore Stratton, the moving picture star? How could you have imagined that? I would die of fright and bashfulness if I ever met him face to face."

"My dear child, surely you know that you breakfasted with Theodore Stratton this morning!"

"Was that man Theodore Stratton?" I exclaimed in astonishment. "Why, the man I breakfasted with this morning is not nearly as young as Theodore Stratton, the movie star! You must be mistaken."

"Nevertheless, my child, he is Theodore Stratton."

Even then I wouldn't be convinced. "He doesn't look at all like he does in his pictures," I protested. "Why, this man is only fairly good looking, while Theodore Stratton in pictures is one of the handsomest men I ever saw."

"When you get to Hollywood, my dear, you will find that very few of the successful movie actors look as well in private life as they do on the screen. One of the reasons why moving picture actors are, is because they photograph well."

You are a very lucky little girl if you are not a very clever one, because you have made yourself interesting to the most important moving picture actor of the day."

Oh, Mrs. Watkins, surely you believe me. I know you would if you could tell me what I told him. I think, please, that I will go back to my own section now, and I handed her the baby. I had lost all inclination to play with it longer.

I grew hot and cold. What must Mr. Stratton have thought of me! He, too, might think that I had taken this way to make his acquaintance. I have put myself in a bad light with him anyway, was my thought, for he must have only one of two opinions of me. Either, that I am far too clever, or else that I am a perfect fool. No wonder that he thinks my people are crazy to have allowed me to go to California.

"I wouldn't worry about it, dear," said Mrs. Watkins, detaining me. "You didn't ask his name or act in any way as if you cared to have it, did you?"

57 Killed in Crossing Mishaps During 1921

During the year 1921, fifty-seven persons were killed and 233 injured in grade crossing accidents in the six states served by the Southern Railway Company's railroad system, according to a report given out today by R. J. Clancy, assistant to the general manager in charge of safety work.

These figures are a slight increase over the casualties for 1920. The largest number of deaths in one accident, according to the report, occurred at a crossing where thirteen high school students were killed.

"In 186 instances," the report states, "or about 22 per cent of the total, it will be noted that instead of being struck by trains, the automobiles ran into trains, primarily the result of approaching crossing at a speed so great that braking power was not sufficient to stop automobile before hitting train, resulting in four fatalities and 83 injuries. In 85 instances crossing gates lowered to protect them from trains, were run through and broken, and in eight instances crossing flagmen, warning motorists of approaching trains, were run down and injured."

Kills Appropriation For Grand Canyon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The entire appropriation for administration, maintenance and further improvement of Grand Canyon National Park was stricken from the interior appropriation bill by the Senate before the measure was passed and sent to conference with the House for adjustment of a dozen amendments.

Action by the Senate followed a speech by Senator Cameron, Republican, Arizona, in which he attacked the "useless and worse than useless" expenditure of public funds in states where national parks are located, in order to "gratify the whims of a few who would profit by the expenditures."

The Senator declared that the $99,000 which it was proposed to spend in Grand Canyon Park would go to build community houses, trails and roads over which "one corporation could put on buses and get that much more from the public." He charged also that it was the intention of those behind the appropriation to build campers' quarters in regions where only "thirty or forty millionaires could congregate and have a good time."

The milk that 37,000 cows gave this morning

This morning—and every morning—the milk of 37,000 cows goes to the Libby condenseries near-by.

There, at once, more than half the moisture is removed from it by evaporation—making it double-rich, thick like cream. Nothing is added to it. Sealed in the air-tight cans, Libby's Milk keeps fresh and pure; is convenient, economical and safe.

Add Libby's Milk to your next grocery order. It's so rich you will use it as cream for coffee, tea, and for cooking. Add an equal amount of water and you have pure, rich milk.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Notification of their willingness to have their wages cut from $8 to $5 a day has been given President Timothy E. Hendon by more than 200 employees of the city board of public works. The announcement was made officially by officers of the United Laborers' Union No. 1 of San Francisco. # The rich maple flavor that New Englanders brag about you get it always in Towle's LOG CABIN Syrup

If you've got a neighbor from New England he's probably told you that the only way you can get syrup with the real gen-u-ine maple flavor is to get it direct from Vermont.

But, say, if you want some fun, just step into your grocer's and get a can of Log Cabin Syrup. Take it over to your neighbor and let him put a delicious spoonful on his tongue. Watch his eyes light with memories of Vermont boyhood.

Brings memories of sugar camp days

Listen to him tell of those first thawing days when the call, "Sap's Runnin'," sent man and boy pell-mell to the sugar camps. He lives over again those rushing hours when every man and beast worked at top speed gathering the precious flow. Days of carrying; nights of boiling!

But what a goal in sight! Rich maple sugar on the table and in the kitchen all the year 'round.

Log Cabin brings this flood of sweet memories—because it has the unforgettable flavor of the real old-fashioned maple at its best.

From the boiled-down essence of maple

This flavor Log Cabin gets from the pure maple sugar—sugar that is the boiled-down essence of maple. Just enough pure sugar of cane—and nothing else—is blended with it to make it most palatable for table use.

Try Log Cabin Syrup on pancakes or waffles. But don't stop there. Pour it over cereals, grapefruit, ice cream and desserts. Have it with hot biscuits or good old-fashioned johnnycake! Every meal there's something that can be wonderfully improved with the Log Cabin flavor of pure maple—the flavor that New Englanders brag about.

The genuine Towle's Log Cabin Syrup comes only in the distinctive log-cabin-shaped cans—3 sizes.

SENIORS VOTE LOG CABIN OPEN TO FAIR ONES

BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—Covered with the dust of twenty years, the by-laws of Senior hall at the university were taken from the walls last night to learn whether or not the rules barred women from the building. Men of the graduating class have been the center of a heated discussion as a result of the proposal to hold rehearsals for the 1922 extravaganza in the log cabin in which they meet, and many of them declared that tradition was against allowing women within the hall.

Because no other convenient place could be found for rehearsals, a final plea was made to the men and the matter was referred to E. B. de Golla, president of the class. De Golla named two men to take down the original by-laws, which have hung over the fireplace for twenty years, to try to find some rule bearing on the question. No mention of women students could be found on the list, so the seniors voted to allow the rehearsals in their building.

flood that washed out one of the three spans that composed the bridge then, carrying it down the creek a mass of steel. When the concrete bridge was completed the two steel spans were moved up-stream to their present location.

A few years ago the roadmaster in charge of upkeep reported to the county engineer that the concrete bridge was being seriously endangered by the excavations of two sand and gravel companies operating below and near to the bridge. Deep pits the full width of the stream and a hundred yards long were dug in excavating the gravel. The next flood to come would scour away the gravel and sand about and beneath the bridge, carrying it down and depositing it in the pits, to be dug out and sold. In five years this process had lowered the creek bed beneath the bridge along twenty feet, leaving the piers set in but twenty feet of gravel in face boy.

stead of forty as originally built. At the direction of the board of supervisors William Hyman, then district attorney, brought suit for injunction against the gravel companies and finally secured a court order prohibiting them from taking any more gravel from Alameda creek in the vicinity of the bridge. Inspection of the upper bridge was then ordered and the same condition was found existing there. Accordingly a suit was begun against a third sand and gravel company, seeking an injunction. This suit is still pending in the courts.

IT'S WORTH TRYING.
LONDON, Feb. 26.—One British educator has come forward with the suggestion that better musical training in the lower grades would do a great deal to curb the whistling of set in but twenty feet of gravel in face boy.

TWO DECISIONS CLEAR DISPUTED PROBATE POINTS

Judge Robinson Rules On Setting Side Estates and Homestead Obligations.

Superior Judge E. C. Robinson of the probate court handed down two decisions on important points of probate law this week which are expected to attract attention of attorneys and jurists throughout the state. Number one is the first decision of a superior court on the amendment to Section 1469, C. C. P., relating to the setting aside of estates, that has been made since the amendment became effective on July 29, 1921. Decision number two is the first to fix the rights and responsibilities of tenants of probate homesteads.

Section 1469, C. C. P., before amendment, provided that where an estate amounted to less than $1500 the whole might be set aside for a widow or minor children, superceding all other claims except those arising out of last illness, funeral and administration. The amendment increased the amount to be set aside to $2500. Judge Robinson's decision involved the estate of Arlet Lamoureux, who died shortly before the amendment became effective. It was claimed by attorneys for the estate that the amendment should apply, because steps to administer the estate were not taken until after July 29, 1921.

CONTENTION FETTERABLE.
Judge Robinson held that this contention was untenable, because the law cannot be construed as retrospective unless the law specifically states it is intended to be. Furthermore, he held, to construe the law as retrospective would interfere with the vested rights of possible heirs, which become effective instantly upon the death of the deceased whose estate is in question.

The second decision, concerning the rights and obligations of tenants of probate homesteads, though less involved in its reasoning, is considered of equal importance. It, too, affects possible heirs of an estate.

Under California law the probate court may, at its discretion, set aside as a "probate homestead" the home of a widow or orphan which may be necessary to the rearing of a family. The case in point was that of the estate of Mrs. McQuarrie, deceased. Mrs. McQuarrie left a will bequeathing certain legacies, the payment of which would necessitate sale of the home.

RULES ON HOMESTEADS.
Superior Judge William S. Wells, presiding in probate court on March 16, 1921, set aside a "probate homestead" to M. D. McQuarrie, the surviving husband, for five years as necessary for the proper rearing of the children.

When the five years had expired, McQuarrie, in making an accounting to the court, included certain disbursements in the account, such as taxes, papering, painting and tiling the house and the cost of sewer improvements.

Judge Robinson held that, inasmuch as the owner of the probate homestead had not had possession of the house for the five years, while McQuarrie had enjoyed its shelter, the owner should not be required to pay the taxes nor the cost of temporary improvements, but that sewer improvements, being permanent in nature, might properly be assessed against the property.

Former Assemblyman Fined for Bad Eggs
BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—For shipping eggs into Berkeley that were not "strictly fresh," according to officials of the state board of health, George Beck, former Livermore assemblyman and merchant of that place, was fined $5 this morning by Judge Robert Edgar.

In finding Beck guilty, Judge Edgar declared that he would impose a minimum fine because of expense and inconvenience suffered by the defendant as a result of the case.

Professor Irwin J. Lea and C. B. Heizer, of the state pure food laboratory at the university, testified as to Beck's infractions of the law. A chemical analysis of one of the eggs which Beck is declared to have labeled as "strictly fresh" was submitted in the testimony.

Beck is declared to have sold the eggs which caused his arrest to Mrs. M. Post, of the Berkeley Free Market, Shattuck avenue and Haste street.

"Douse That Hat" Is New Wary Cry at U. C.
BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—"Douse that hat" is the cry of upper classmen at the University this week, for a concerted effort is being made to instruct the first-year students in the traditions which govern the time and place for wearing headgear. Because the incoming classes have been too large to be handled by the second-year men, seniors and juniors have decided to take a hand in the matter of teaching traditions.

The bit of lower classmen wearing hats within the halls of the campus buildings will be stopped by the older students as the first step in their campaign. The only place where hats can be worn is in Wheeler hall, for there the tradition which allowed senior sombreros to be worn in North hall has been transferred. The rule against wearing hats or caps is strictly enforced in the college memorial buildings.

Sunday School Will Hold Novel Party
SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 24.—Novel arrangements have been made for the meeting of the Presbyterian church Sunday school tonight. A Thorpe, who is in charge of the games of the young people, has planned to make the affair in the form of a miniature track-meet, the attending pupils drawing lots to decide the name of the school they will represent. Following the drawing, the various sides will compete in many indoor games that are but condensed ideas of the larger field day activities.

San Diego Official Is Oakland Visitor

McMillan is a candidate for the Republican nomination as state treasurer. While here he has been visiting old friends to whom he has expressed his wonder at the recent development of Oakland.

YOUNG DECLARES STATE SHOULD AID DRY ENFORCEMENT

Lieutenant-Governor Tells the Lions of Responsibility Under Amendment.

BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—"Every state in the Union should accept the responsibility of aiding the federal government in law enforcement," Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young told members of the Berkeley Lions Club yesterday.

In speaking on "The Eighteenth Amendment and Law Enforcement," Young pointed out that California was one of the four states of the union that had not passed prohibition enforcement laws.

"The federal government is not able to carry out the strict enforcement of the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment because of the great expense involved in hiring separate federal officers," said Young. "California alone has only twenty federal officers and it is almost useless for them to try to enforce the law. Besides there is only two federal courts to try the cases that are brought before them."

TELLS OF WRIGHT BILL.
Young spoke of the Wright bill, which incorporates the Volstead act into its provisions. This bill was passed by the last legislature. He continued:

"In 1916, when the present eighteenth amendment was introduced into Congress, twenty-seven of the states of the Union had gone dry. Sixty per cent of the population of our country was living in dry territory. I point this out to show you that this legislation was not developed by any sudden hysteria for prohibition, but by a slow development of economic pressure. Business men saw the necessity of prohibition and it was gradually brought about.

STATES SHOULD AID.
"But now that we have prohibition in our constitution, which gives the federal government and the state government concurrent power to enforce it, each and every state should accept its responsibilities and duties and pass enforcement laws. The Supreme Court of the United States has interpreted the words 'shall have the power' as giving the government the mandate to power to enforce the law. Therefore it is incumbent on the states to aid the federal government in the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Forty-four states of the Union have passed enforcement laws and California is one of the four that has not. The Harpers bill was voted down by the people at the last election after it was said that it was too strict."

After Napoleon took up his residence on St. Helena he spent most of his time sleeping.

APHASIA VICTIM FOR FOUR YEARS IS IDENTIFIED

DAYTON, O., Feb. 24.—The man known as "Harold Payton" who served in the National Military home here also has not known his real identity since being released from the Brooklyn navy yard hospital in November, 1917, was identified today as Lawrence Kealing, son of W. H. Kealing, mine operator and ranchman of Heath, Montana.

Kealing has been suffering from aphasia as a result of being hit over the head with a piece of steel while aboard the U. S. S. Sussquehanna in the bay of Biscay. In his wanderings as a nameless man he resided at he served for a year as chauffeur to Ruth Roland, motion picture actress, in California.

Identification was brought about when the father saw a picture of his son in a Montana newspaper. "Harold Payton," the man without a name.

WORK ON CAPITOL ANNEX URGED FOR STATE BUILDERS

Committee Shows Governor Advantage of Keeping All Contracts Here.

A committee representing many of the state's building and building supplies interests went to Sacramento today to urge Governor William D. Stephens to award to California contractors all work in connection with the forthcoming construction of the capitol annex at Sacramento.

The committee included Charles W. Heiser, chairman of the California Development association; Frank Metcalf, secretary of the California Metal Trades association; George E. Carruthers and Paul F. Gillespie, San Francisco business men; Wilbur Walker, Oakland merchants' exchange; Fred Bowles, California Manufacturers' association; and Blanks Everett, of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

It was pointed out to the governor that if the awarding of bids for structural work and building supplies is made to California builders and manufacturers it will stimulate industry generally and aid in meeting the problem of unemployment.

According to the committee several bids already received show that some eastern concerns have submitted figures slightly lower than those offered by state bidders. The small difference, it was claimed by the committee, did not justify the contracts being given to the eastern bidders.

'TIP' O'NEIL, CHICAGO BASEBALL ORACLE, DECLARES OAKLAND IS REAL BASEBALL CITY

COMISKEY AIDE HERE AND GIVES OAKLAND BOOST AS BALL TOWN

Comiskey's Business Manager Has a Big Job Ahead of Him at Paso Robles Ranch.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

"Tip" O'Neil, the Hibernian who looks after the interests of Charley Comiskey, the gray-haired old gentleman who peddles up the money each summer for the running of the Chicago White Sox baseball team, is once again a visitor in this city, the place he calls his home when folks in the East ask him where he hails from. "Tip" was a visitor here last year about this time, but he did not have ahead of him the job which he has waiting for him at Paso Robles, where Charles Comiskey has thousands of acres of fruit trees. As he always does on his trips here, "Tip" is making his local headquarters with Charley Hannan, his old side kicker at Eleventh and Broadway, and with "Tip" hanging around. Charley enjoys what seems to him a holiday, for the pair chat nothing but baseball, and especially of the old days. To Charley it is just like being out in the bleachers of a ball park, and seeing some of the old games played over again.

"Tip" is a human baseball almanac, for he can give you an answer to almost any baseball question you turn to ask. And nobody enjoys talking baseball more than does "Tip," and for that reason it is a pleasure to listen to Charley Comiskey's right-hand man chatter. A fellow could converse with him all day and never grow tired, and it would not be necessary for "Tip" to dwell on the same subject more than a minute or two, to carry on a full day's conversation.

"Continuous Ball Is Big Boost for City," "Tip"

A part of "Tip's" interesting chatter on baseball was about the Oaks going to play all their home games on the local diamond this season, and "Tip" has studied the habits of the baseball fans all over the country for years, is strong in his belief that the venture of the local owners will prove a successful one. Tip had the following to say:

This city, in my opinion, is quite large enough to support continuous baseball. Any city that will turn out the number of fans to witness a Sunday morning game, as Oakland has, should easily support the team with seven games a week being played in it for half the season. It is not a question of supporting the ball team alone that confronts the fans of this great baseball town, but it is up to the people to show the world that they live in a real, live city. The club should come as a second object for the fans wanting to support continuous baseball here, and the ambition to let the whole world know that Oakland is now a great big city should be the first object. The loyalty of the baseball fans of Oakland to their ball team, whether it be in the rut or not, has been carried and advertised in every baseball town of the United States. There is no question in my mind but that the venture will bring its reward to the owners of the Oakland club.

Every Day Should Be a Boosters' Day, He Says.

However "Tip" does believe that San Francisco is a city large enough to support continuous baseball, but whether or not it will be a good thing for the league to have two teams on the other side of the bay, and the Oaks play all their home games here, is a question which is up to the baseball public to decide, he thinks.

With the Oakland owners turning over a new leaf, many things are to be considered, said Comiskey's right-hand man. One big day, such as opening day here, when every baseball fan in the city will be urged to attend the bag, is not that is necessary to work the fans into a habit of supporting continuous ball. It will be great stuff to have the greatest opening day in the history of

Pat MacDonald To Retire as Track Athlete

Mat McGrath Another Copper to Quit; Chance for Young Houser.

By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—One pair of No. 12 championship shoes is waiting around to be filled. Pat MacDonald, one of the "whales" of the New York police department, has hung up his 16-pound shot "to give the young fellows a chance."

"Athletics are for the youngsters. I'm getting too old to monkey around. I'm quitting before some of the kids make me ashamed of myself," he said.

MacDonald is now an imposing sergeant in the traffic section. He has added inches to his waist line. In his uniform he looks big enough to push a dozen motor trucks out of a jam.

Having been a prominent figure in all the late Olympics, Pat was asked if he wouldn't feel kind of restless in 1924 when the American team is getting ready to sail.

"No, I've got too nice a home to live a couple weeks in a cattle boat and sleep all summer on a bunk that I couldn't get half of myself."

Another one of the cop whales, Mat McGrath, the 56-pound-weight heaver, has retired. McGrath, who is a lieutenant in the traffic squad, has never completely recovered from an injured knee that he suffered in Antwerp when he slipped on the grass in the weight ring.

Clarence Houser, the husky Los Angeles youngster, is regarded as the best fitter to step into MacDonald's shoes. He beat MacDonald in the A. A. U. championships at Pasadena last year with a toss of 46 feet 11 1/2 inches. He has shown so much class that he is expected to develop into world's champion material.

Other good prospects include Pope of Washington, Hartcraft of Los Angeles A. C. and Tolbert, Harvard; Dale, Nebraska; Powell, Oregon Aggies, have all done between 42 and 46 feet.

America dominated the weight events for years, but the showing made by the Finns and the Swedes in Antwerp last year showed that the "whales" needed successors.

Wm. Kenworthy Is Coming Here From Seattle

SEATTLE, Feb. 24.—Bill Kenworthy, former manager of the Seattle baseball club, left for Oakland today without waiting word from Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, regarding his status in the baseball world. After his suspension from the game, Kenworthy has alleged refusal to furnish information said to have been wanted by Judge Landis. Kenworthy announced he would stay in Seattle until the matter was cleared up. The intention of Kenworthy not to go to Hanford, where he has business interests, is taken by followers of baseball here to indicate that he evidently expects to get another chance at the game.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The O. A. L. basketball season which threatened to disrupt as the result of a painting job charged to a few Vocational high students, will probably get under way next week. At the little talk held by the principals of the Oakland high schools yesterday at Jay H. Nash's office, it was decided to draw up a new set of rules for all athletic contests. Indulged in by the various schools, it is now up to the athletic associations of the five O. A. L. schools to pass on the rules, and if that is done, then the basketball games will be staged under a new schedule to be arranged by the various coaches. Vocational will be allowed to participate in the league games, under the clause that if any more vandalism is caused the little market street school will have to find another league in which to play their game.

The Tech high baseball team will cross bats with Mission high tomorrow at the Tech high diamond, starting at 2:30 p. m. The Broadway boys hold one victory over a transbay prep school already, having defeated Poly high by a 6 to 1 tally last Wednesday. Captain Butler is quite confident that his lads will add another scalp to the win column. Very little is known of the Mission team, except that they come from across the pond, but in the past few years they have turned out some fairly fast ball clubs.

The Tech team, this season, has an unusual amount of youngsters, the majority of them being freshmen and sophomores. But from latest reports, the youngsters have shown plenty of knowledge of the ball tossing pastime and have been following the old saying, "The early bird gets the worm." The Green and Gold, especially, are anxious to get into the Berkeley off the O. A. L. gonfalon, as the Boulevard boys have not seen a track championship for many a moon.

A track meet is also on tomorrow's program. Fremont and Alameda high being the schools to provide the entertainment, the meet scheduled to take place at 10:30 at the California oval. This is rather an early date to stage track meets, but both Fremont and Alameda are following the old saying, "The early bird gets the worm." The Green and Gold, especially, are anxious to get into the Berkeley off the O. A. L. gonfalon, as the Boulevard boys have not seen a track championship for many a moon.

Track practice is going on in full force at Tech high and Coach Hanson is quite confident that the Purple and Gold will have a banner year in the cinder path sport. The mile and half mile are the weak spots at the Broadway school, but in the short sprints Hanson banks his hopes on Captain Minney. The Tech team are minus two first-rounders in the persons of Andy McNaughton and Claude Gaimarino, both of whom were able to run fairly fast last week in fairly fast time. In the jumps Stanley, Glead and Chandler are injured on to come through in fine shape, but in the discus and shot put the Purple and Gold stack up rather poor.

The Oakland high baseball team will meet one of the strongest prep school teams about the bay region Monday, when they travel to the St. Mary's campus to cross bats with the prep school nine of the Broadway college. In the way of comparison it can be seen that the Blue and White are in for a hard battle and one they are not figured to win. The simple reason is that Oakland won't be able to beat Berkeley high by a score of 2 to 1, while the young Saints pounced on four Berkeley twirlers last week, and in a total of sixteen bingles, which they easily succeeded in converting into twelve runs again four innings later. The college city prepsters, The St. Mary's team stack up exceptionally good both in the batting and fielding line, as shown by the Berkeley game, while the Oaks have not shown much in either the batting or fielding line this season and look to be easy pickings for the Saints. The Blue and White is due to get started in the right direction one of these bright days, and it may be in the St. Mary's fray, so the Broadway boys had better keep their eyes open for Daugherty's lads may come through with the well-known surprise.

Perfect Score Registered.

MODESTO, Feb. 23.—H. L. Lorenson, of Newman, Calif., well known throughout the west as a train shot, yesterday scored 50 clay targets out of a possible 50 in the regular shoot of the Modesto Gun Club.

Marc Catton Makes Run of 902 in Alameda

Previous Record of 799 Was Held by George Sutton, Eastern Expert.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 24.—Marc Catton, Alameda billiard player and holder of the world's straight run record, chalked up another score for himself last night when, before fifty spectators, he broke the world's 18.2 ball line record with a score of 902. The previous record held by George Sutton, was 799. It had stood for a year. The straight run record held by Catton was made in competition in Chicago February 23, 1916. At that time he scored 2634.

Catton is one of the best known billiard players in the bay district, and ranks among the first six in the United States. He is a close friend of Jake Schaefer, the world's 13.2 balling record holder. Schaefer and Catton played an exhibition match in the latter's billiard parlors Saturday night.

The record which Catton made last night was refereed by Arthur Correa. Catton was playing Lloyd Watson. Neither Correa or Watson are connected with Catton's parlor, so there is every reason to believe that the record will be allowed, according to the billiardists of this city.

Catton is the son of W. H. Catton, former national three-cushion champion. He is well known for his fancy shots.

Horseshoe Pitching Champion Crowned

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 24.—Charles Clyde Davis of Columbus, Ohio, is the new American horseshoe pitching champion winning from a field of twenty-two of the country's best hardy golfers in a fourth annual tournament which ended here yesterday. He defeated Ralph P. Spitzer of Picher, Oklahoma, in the final, 50 to 29.

Hans Lohert, former Pittsburgh and New York big league baseball player, is at present in charge of the West Point baseball men as coach of the Army nine.

Harry Schuman Defeats T. Davis In the Second

Travis Refuses to Continue, Claiming Injured Eye; Hank Is Champ.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 24.—Harry Schuman of Tacoma was awarded a decision here last night carrying with it the welterweight championship of the Pacific Coast, after two rounds of milling with Travis Davis of Everett, Wash. Davis refused to continue the fight, claiming that an injured eye made it impossible for him to see.

The first round of the bout was fairly even, but in the next Schuman got to Davis' mid-section and took the round. When Travis returned to his corner he instructed the referee to inspect Schuman's gloves. This was done, but the referee could find nothing wrong with them.

In the semi-final, Kid Johnson, Olympic lightweight, scored a technical knockout over Charlie Coggins, Tacoma, in the first round.

Bill Fitzgerald of Seattle and Joe Black, Denver, lightweights, fought a four-round draw in the referee's opinion, although most of the fans favored Black.

Marty Foley, Tacoma middleweight, won a decision over Babe Finn of Seattle and Paddy Coggins, Tacoma featherweight, bested Jack Bresnan, also of Tacoma.

Benny Leonard to Box P. Moran Tonight

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 24.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, makes his New Orleans boxing debut tonight in a ten-round no-decision bout with P. Moran, local lightweight. Moran fought the champion in East Chicago two years ago and, outwitted by 12 rounds, remains in the lead. To night the champion is expected to weigh about 140 pounds and Moran 135.

Charley Robertson Now Baseball Coach

SHERMAN, Texas, Feb. 24.—Charley Robertson, who has played with the Chicago White Sox, will coach the Sherman College football squad this year. Robertson is a former Austin College student and a native Texan.

Tommy Lynch Is Victim of Unknown Thief

Next Sunday's Game May Be Ruined If Red Cap Is Not Returned.

Tommy Lynch, the little leader of the popular Paddy team which is to battle the Oakland N. S. G. W. No. 50 for the class A amateur baseball championship of Northern California, is ready to fight today and further than that he has threatened to seek the aid of the whole police department of Oakland and Emeryville, if week or so ago somebody threatened to steal Tommy's red cap, which has served to make him a very conspicuous athlete on the ball field, and somebody has come out and stole said cap. The last Tommy saw of it was Wednesday afternoon when he was dressing in the clubhouse at the Coast League park after he and his "Paddy" team had a long workout in preparation for the opening game with the Natives next Sunday. Tommy believes that someone of his teammates has taken it for a joke, but there is reason to suspect several of the Oakland Native players who were hanging about the clubhouse while Tommy was changing from his uniform to his civilian clothes. "Char" Berwick, the clubhouse attendant, the Natives have been mentioned as one who may have taken the prized top piece, for "Char" was very much in evidence around the clubhouse.

Unless that cap is found before next Sunday, when the Natives and Paddy meet in the first game of their big series to settle the class A amateur championship, Tommy may have to pull himself out of the lineup for it is said that he and his entire team would be jinxed unless that cap was on the head of the little leader. Tommy has asked all his players to aid him in the search for the red top piece, and as a few of them are not any too anxious to lend their aid, Tommy feels that they are the ones playing the joke.

The weather man has said there is a good chance for fair weather next Sunday, which is a bit cheerful news, as it has rained nearly all week. The teams were scheduled to play the opening game of their series last Sunday but rain put the damper on it, and the boys will be pretty much upset if they are unable to get started this Sunday, as the series calls for two wins out of three games to decide the winners, who will meet the Oaks in their opening appearance here.

The game will start at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Oakland Coast League park. John Zimmerman and Harry Ariett will be the umpires.

FARMER INCOME DECLINES TO 17 AS AGAINST 17

Enormous Profits in Wartime Counterbalanced Now By Very Low Prices.

BY UNITED PRESS
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The farmer's income in 1931 and 1932 reached an unprecedentedly high level of total income, as compared with the rest of the country, and the comparison is made on the basis of the income from the sale of products of the farm. This is true, whether the comparison is made on the basis of the income from the sale of products of the farm, or on the basis of the income from the sale of products of the farm.

This fact is disclosed by the National Bureau of Economic Research, on the basis of an investigation of the income of the farmer in 1931 and 1932, as compared with the income of the non-farmer in the same years. The investigation shows that the income of the farmer in 1931 and 1932 was 17 percent of the total income of the country, as compared with 17 percent in 1929.

The farmers who represent about 4,000,000 or 15 percent of the gainfully employed, have received during the past decade a share in the income of the country which has been much larger than that of the non-farmer. This is true, whether the comparison is made on the basis of the income from the sale of products of the farm, or on the basis of the income from the sale of products of the farm.

When these figures are translated into the income of the farmer in 1931 and 1932, it is again seen that the purchasing power of the farmer is much lower than that of the non-farmer. This is true, whether the comparison is made on the basis of the income from the sale of products of the farm, or on the basis of the income from the sale of products of the farm.

There are the comparative figures in billions of dollars. The figures show that the income of the farmer in 1931 and 1932 was 17 percent of the total income of the country, as compared with 17 percent in 1929.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

THE past week was devoid of any occurrence of special significance in the business world and while all indications point to a continuation of the gradual revival of industry, building activity appears to be already booming in the bay district. It is stated that every skilled man in the building trades is employed and in many cases at wages in excess of the union demand. Oakland alone shows building permits totaling several millions of dollars during the winter and actual construction will start in a few days on several pretentious additions to Oakland's retail district, says John F. Hassler, cashier of the Central National Bank.

The bond market continues exceptionally strong and new issues of good bonds are in constant demand. Indications point to lower interest rates on high-grade bonds and it would not be surprising to witness a return to a 5 1/2 or even a 5 percent interest rate for prime securities.

"The fortunate holders of long-term non-callable 7 and 8 percent bonds have the privilege of selling their securities at a handsome premium and reinvesting in the many attractive offerings in the present market," says Hassler. "Holders of high-yield bonds maturing during the next five years would be wise in considering the disposal of these short-term bonds and the replacing of them with long-term non-callable bonds, as indications point to a further reduction of interest rates on bonds of the better class. Liberty bonds are holding firm but a further advance in the price of these choice issues to par would occasion no surprise. At present prices, Liberty bonds are still cheap and should be purchased heavily by discriminating investors."

"Strengthening of the pound sterling to $4.38 and a corresponding stiffening in price of other foreign monies strongly indicate the gradual rehabilitation of industrial Europe. This improvement will eventually result in a renewed European demand for American goods."

whereas, his report also shows that 64,000 tons of freight were handled over city wharves and 14,722,000 feet of lumber landed over the same period. The net tonnage of incoming vessels was 264,201, and the total income of the Harbor Department for the month was $13,111.00, of which $3,122.23 came from tolls; $2,742.48 from dockage and $3,246.29 from waterfront leases.

FOREIGN BONDS SHOW
Slightly higher, the market for foreign bonds continued to feature the stronger tone of the New York bond market today, domestic issues, including rails, developing irregularly. Slight reactions occurred in Mexican government 7 1/2 and 8 1/2 percent at new high levels and the various French bonds were moderately active.

MEAT PRICES FOLLOW
LIVE STOCK LEAD.
Prices of fresh meats seem to be preparing to add a cent or so a pound. Quotations on cattle are higher in all live stock markets, the figures showing material gains over a week ago. With grain and feed prices in the advance, the live stock market is expected to show further gains.

BALL WILL GIVE
IDLE MEN JOBS*"One Per Cent" Campaign to Be Launched by Committee First of March.

With many returns yet to be made by the salesmen, the citizens' emergency employment and relief committee has announced that the theatrical benefit for the unemployed given at the Municipal Auditorium on Monday realized something in excess of $1000.

This money will be used to provide work for the jobless men who are registered at the Municipal Wood-yard, according to the plans of the committee which is now engaged in outlining the policy for the "one per cent campaign" to start on March 3. Under the supervision of J. C. Ewing the committee will launch this drive for funds the first of next month. It is planned to have every worker in the city contribute one per cent of his weekly salary for a period of eight weeks.

In this manner the committee hopes to collect sufficient money to keep the unemployed working until spring. They will be employed on public works and paid from this fund.

Eighty-five men, forty from the Associated Charities and thirty-five from the woodyard are now working at the county infirmary in San Leandro doing grading work. These will be paid under an appropriation made by the board of supervisors.

In the mail of the Blue Bird Bureau of The TRIBUNE this morning was a letter of thanks from some member of the army of unemployed

New Bell at City
Camp to Silence
Improvised Chimes

THE chimes of the "Campanile" will be heard no more by Oakland residents who take advantage of the recreation camp that the city of Oakland conducts in the Sierras.

Last year G. E. Mortensen, principal of the Prescott school, with a number of boys from the school, improvised a method of calling the "folks" to dinner, by collecting all the pieces of iron they could find in camp. They then proceeded to play "beautiful" tunes to let the campers know that "dinner was served."

But the "Campanile" is to be abandoned, as a lovely bell has been presented the camp by W. A. Benner, principal of the Hawthorne school. The campers will be called by the tune of beautiful chimes from the NEW BELL! Camp registration opens March 1 at 404 City Hall.

who has received aid during the crisis. The letter follows:

"I want to thank someone in Oakland for the work I have had this winter from the woodyard but I do not know exactly whom to thank, so I will thank Oakland and her people who have opened up their hearts before God and man and have shown the humanity that lies within. I have come in contact with many who are aiding the needy and they seem to take great pride in extending a helping hand to those that need and deserve it. Oakland has certainly set a good example for other cities and I want to thank Oakland and the good people for their kindness and generosity."

U. S. TO GET ALL FROM SALE OF BOOZE AUTOS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Beginning March 15 automobiles used in the illicit liquor traffic seized by Uncle Sam will be sold, and the entire proceeds will go into the United States Treasury, no matter who may be the owner, according to a decision of Attorney-General Dougherty. United States Attorney John Williams today received instructions to this effect from Washington. Heretofore automobiles seized by federal agents and owned by persons holding a lien or a mortgage on the car has received all of his money, the government taking the remainder. The new regulations provide that even if the car seized by the government is only partly paid for, the concern from which it was bought will lose its money as well as the owner, and everything realized from the disposal will go into coffers of the Federal government. This will mean that automobile dealers will have to protect their risks either by insurance or through a bond given by the purchaser not to transport liquor therein.

Bailiff and Clerk
To Become Attorneys

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Deputy Sheriff Thomas Bell, one of the most prominent members of Sheriff Finn's staff, who has served through three administrations, resigned today to practice law. He has been a bailiff in Superior Judge Shortall's court and that jurist found himself deprived of both his police and clerical officials by reason of the fact that Martin Bruton, his clerk, resigned at the same time. Both men studied law together and are to enter the same firm. Bruton has been a deputy county clerk for 15 years, and with Bell passed the bar examination in 1918. They go into the offices of Sweeney & Co., of which firm Mrs. Annette Abbott Adams, former United States attorney and former assistant attorney-general, is also a member.

COLLEGES TO DEBATE SOVIET.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 24.—The subject of the annual Yale-Princeton-Harvard debate, announced today, is "Resolved, That the United States, in joint action with England, France and Japan, should recognize the Soviet government of Russia." The debate will be held on March 24. On March 18 Yale and Georgetown university teams will debate upon the same subject.

LOAN MAN FEARS LURE OF MOVIES

BERKELEY, Feb. 24.—Whether the lure of the movies in Los Angeles has called Mrs. Celeste Deerevel, young wife of Charles P. Deerevel, vocational student at the university, or whether she has returned to her parents in Chicago, is the problem the authorities are trying to solve.

The Deerevels came to Berkeley from Los Angeles a month ago, and according to friends of the couple, Mrs. Deerevel was fascinated by the prospects of a career on the silver screen. That he and his wife had quarreled and that Mrs. Deerevel threatened to leave him has been revealed by the husband.

Deerevel has given up his cottage at 1457 A Walnut street and has placed his 2-year-old son in the care of friends. The baby, who was seriously ill with influenza at the time Mrs. Deerevel left, is now out of danger.

Deerevel, who met and wooed the young woman now his wife in a war-time romance, is continuing his studies in the college of mechanics at the university. He was wounded overseas.

New Postoffice at 16th Street Station Proposed

Oakland's new postoffice building, announced yesterday in a telegram to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce from Senator Hiram Johnson, may be located near the Sixteenth street station, according to Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough, who declares that this will be his recommendation, backed by data to show the necessity of choosing that location.

This does not mean, according to Rosborough, that Oaklanders would be robbed of a downtown postoffice, as the present building would be maintained as a branch office. The main building at the Sixteenth street station would take care of the distribution, and would facilitate and speed up the handling of incoming and outgoing mail.

Rosborough has been behind the agitation for a new postoffice building since he was appointed to office. At that time he declared the main office too small to care for the great volume of mail handled daily.

The new building would add much floor space, and new equipment would be installed, which would expedite the handling of outgoing mail.

Although Senator Johnson's telegram stated that official action had been taken by the Treasury Department and that the supervising architect of that department would send a representative to Oakland to investigate the needs for a new building, it is believed by Postmaster Rosborough that the money, probably $2,000,000, has already been provided for the construction of the building, and that the architect will recommend only as to its location.

Much of the expansion of the local postoffice has been due to the parcel post service, it is pointed out, and the parcel post packages are gradually increasing. During the holiday rushes it has been found necessary in the past to use garages and school houses for the handling and distribution of Christmas packages.

WALLET LOST IN THEATER.
James F. Salmon, 1211 Hearst avenue, Berkeley, reported to the police that while in a local theater he lost his wallet. It contained $90 in currency.

COURT DECISION SUSTAINS DECOTO

A decision of the Supreme Court, received by District Attorney Decoto today, sustains a contention which Decoto has made in briefs and oral arguments for the past year, to the effect that evidence taken without a search warrant may legally be introduced at the trials of accused persons.

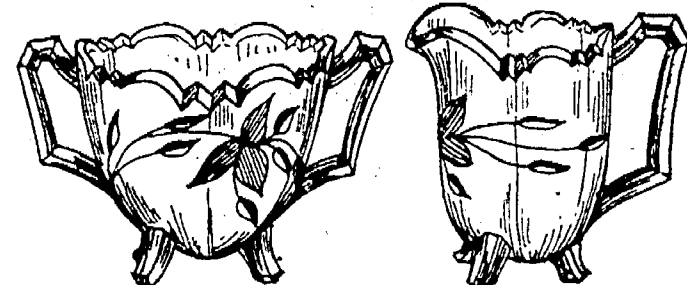

The supreme court's decision, which was rendered after a hearing en banc, reverses the decision of the district court of appeals.

According to Decoto, the opinion of the district court, had it been sustained by the higher court, would have meant the freedom of numerous prisoners now awaiting trial in the local superior court. Among these are several alleged violators of the state medical practice act, including Hazel Harper and Minnie Lee Cook.

The issue which has been decided by the supreme court was raised in the case of Frederick H. Mayen, convicted in Los Angeles of grand larceny.
